SCREEN'S TOUGH GUY HUMPHREY BOGART DIES

HOLLYWOOD — The tumultuous life of screen idol Humphrey Bogart ended quietly today at 2:10 a.m.

One of Hollywood's dominating personalities, Bogart died in his sleep, of throat cancer.

He had been in a coma since Sunday morning. His fourth wife, actress Lauren Bacall, was at the bedside when, according to attending physicians, Bogart "took a deep breath, and died."

The two children of their 1945 marriage — Stephen, born in 1949, and Leslie, born in 1952 — were asleep in a nearby room.

Bogart became a screen star on the strength of his role in "The Petrified Forest" in 1932. He won an Academy Award for "The African Queen." He muscled into a field dominated by Paul Muni, Edward G. Robinson and James Cagney to become a tough guy in Warner Bros. pictures of the 30's. (See also Page 7.)

Russ Urge Full-Scale Arms Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The United States today called for United Nations action on a new five-point disarmament plan which would place international controls on space missiles and on future stockpiling of nuclear weapons.

Russia replied by proposing a special session of the 80-nation General Assembly to be devoted exclusively to the disarmament problem.

At the same time, Soviet deputy foreign minister Vassily V. Kuznetsov blasted the "Eisenhower doctrine" for the Middle East as interference in the affairs of the Arab nations and an aggravating factor in the international situation. (See also page 2.)

Both chief U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. and the committee chairman, Ambassador Victor A. Belandier of Paris, protested against the injection of the Middle East question into the debate, but Kuznetsov insisted that the problems were closely linked.

'Smear' Cries U.S. Delegate

Lodge called his remarks a "smear on the United States, irrelevant and impertinent."

Kuznetsov repeated the disarmament proposals made recently by Premier Bulganin and declared they offered a sound basis for agreement. These proposals included an agreement to institute an aerial inspection system in a central European zone extending 500 miles each side of the iron curtain.

The Soviet delegate also formally proposed an immediate ban on future nuclear test explosions.

The new U.S. disarmament proposals would go into effect, Lodge stressed, only after an iron-clad system of controls and inspections had been established to guard against violations or evasions.

Major points of the proposal were:

1. That an agreement be reached under which all future production of fissionable materials shall be stockpiled exclusively for non-weapons purposes under international inspection.

2. That nuclear test explosions be limited and later banned, if an agreement is reached to control the stockpiling of fissionable materials. Pending such an agreement, the United States would be willing to work out a system for advance notice and limited international observation of such tests.

3. That the armed forces of the United States and the Soviet Union be limited to 2,500,000 each and those of Britain and France to 750,000 each. If the nations concerned can agree on progressive establishment of an inspection system. This would include aerial inspection, as proposed by President Eisenhower at the summit meeting, and ground inspection at key points, as proposed by Premier Bulganin.

4. That the testing of all space missiles, including earth satellites and space platforms, be placed under international control to make sure that their future development is limited to peaceful purposes.

5. That an international inspection and control system be installed progressively to guard against surprise attacks. This would be supervised by an international agency which would be established concurrently with the beginning of the program.

Pilot Boat Missing; Seven Aboard

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — An 85-foot harbor pilot boat was listed as missing today a few hours after a collision was reported in the Bay of Fundy.

The missing boat was believed to be carrying seven men—three pilots, two seamen, an engineer and a cook.

Searchers found debris floating off the coast at Mispec and a marker buoy was dropped, indicating further investigation was planned.

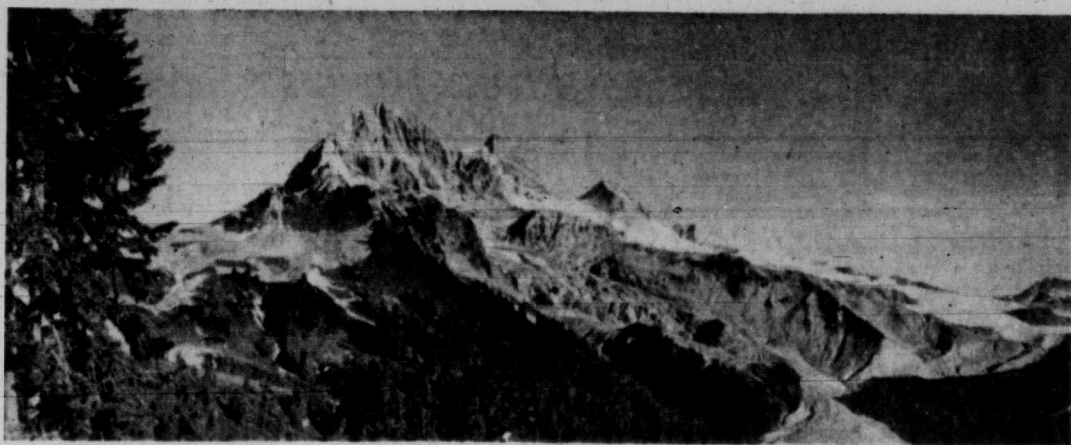

The other ship involved was the 3,484-ton freighter Fort Avalon, the ship that found the wreckage.

Surface ships and an RCAF plane joined in the hunt.

Two Jet-Crash Survivors Sighted by Rescue Teams

WHERE JETS COLLIDED AND CRASHED

Mid-air collision of two Vancouver-based RCAF training jets occurred near Garibaldi Mountain, shown here, on the mainland, 120 miles northwest of Victoria. Planes were flying in formation.

Two Still Missing —Planes Collided

SQUAMISH, B.C. (CP)—Two survivors of a mid-air crash between two T-33 jet trainers Sunday afternoon were found today by RCAF search planes in mountainous terrain 17 miles northeast of here.

Four men were aboard the two planes.

RCAF officials said a rescue team of two had been dropped in the vicinity where two fires had been burning through the night but the team was unable to reach the survivors, seen from the air.

A Piasecki helicopter, after picking up the rescue team, left this coast village 40 miles north of Vancouver, in an attempt to land near the survivors.

Officials said it was impossible to say at this time who the survivors were but released the names of three of the four Vancouver airmen aboard the jets when they collided and exploded.

They are:
Flight Lieut. Burton Patkau, 27, pilot; FO Roderick Atkins, 19, a passenger, and FO Bernard McCormack, 21, a TCA pilot, also a passenger.

Next of kin of the fourth airman are believed to be in England and have not yet been notified, said the RCAF.

All were members of 421 Auxiliary (Reserve) Squadron based at Sea Island, near Vancouver.

Two fires were spotted by air searchers Sunday night in the vicinity where the jets collided and exploded in a ball of flame and smoke.

Followed Parachutes to Earth

An RCAF pilot, Wing Cmdr. Barker, who witnessed the collision from a Harvard trainer overhead, said he saw two men bail out.

However, Billy Swann, 15, and Doug Barnfield, 12, both of Squamish, said they saw three parachutes. Billy told, with young Barnfield verifying his account, of seeing the planes collide in flames under a clear sky.

"We saw three parachutes after that," he said. "Two were together and the other one was alone to the north."

After the collision, he said, the sky was blackened with smoke, a long finger of which dipped earthward in the path the planes followed in crashing.

One report said the planes were flying in formation with two other aircraft when they collided.

The crash occurred in a valley of the coast range, in the general vicinity of Garibaldi Mountain, which rises to about 5,000 feet.

Wing Cmdr. Barker said he watched two parachutes land in dense brush. He said there was a man below each parachute.

"I could see the men clearly, although I didn't want to go too close and chance spilling the air out of their chutes. One man was hanging onto the straps of his parachute."

Although he did not see the collision, Wing Cmdr. Barker judged it to be at the 15,000 or 20,000-foot level.

"Without warning, there was a puff of smoke and a flash—a big flash. Then the air was full of wreckage that looked just like flak."

"I followed the largest piece of wreckage down. It was falling fast, but it took about five minutes."

"I didn't know two planes were involved until I got back to the base and heard that two were missing."

A ground search party which left here earlier was reported converging on the area holding the two survivors.

An RCAF pilot said after seeing the men waving that 500 feet apart, on the 2,000-foot level of a mountain ridge.

Several feet of snow would cover the area at that level, local woodsmen said.

Wreckage of One Plane Found

Wreckage of one of the planes was found 16 miles north of here in bush beside the Pacific Great Eastern Railway tracks. There was no word of survivors at the crash scene.

Squamish is at the head of Howe Sound, about 40 miles north of Vancouver. The planes which collided, the company known as Shooting Stars, belonged to the 421 City of Vancouver Auxiliary Squadron based at Sea Island.

Throughout the night, after the fires were sighted—near Lizzie Lake, about 15 miles northwest of here, an RCAF Dakota kept circling the mountainous area to keep track of the signals.

In another direction, ground searchers reported seeing a flare from a very pistol. RCAF officials confirmed Very pistols are part of survival equipment of jet pilots.

Ground parties were assisted by PGE dispatchers and train crews, who used microwave radio equipment to co-ordinate the search.

Aboard one of the RCAF planes which took part in the hunt was Sqdn. Ldr. George Sheahan of Ottawa, who supervised the fruitless search for a Trans-Canada Air Lines North Star which disappeared near Hope, B.C., Dec. 9 with 62 persons aboard.

PEARSON TELLS COMMONS

Ottawa (CP) — Canada would welcome full restoration of consultation among London, Paris and Washington on Middle East policy "even more than the so-called 'Eisenhower doctrine' for American action in the area," External Affairs Minister Pearson said today.

He referred in the Commons to President Eisenhower's request to the U.S. Congress for powers to carry out swift American action in the Middle East under certain conditions.

"The ideas behind this doctrine are welcomed by this government" as evidence of increased awareness by the U.S. of the importance of the Middle East, he said.

But Mr. Pearson noted as important the fact that Mr. Eisenhower's proposals do not deal with conflict in the Middle East among non-Communist countries nor with trouble arising from Communist subversion.

He added: "As welcome as this is, even more welcome I think to a Canadian would be full restoration of consultation" among Britain, France and the United States.

Replying to Alistair Stewart (CCF—Winnipeg North), Mr. Pearson said he does not think the doctrine constitutes a danger of the U.S. by-passing the United Nations in taking action in the Middle East.

No Oil Price Hike in Canada, Declares Howe

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe said today the oil situation in the Suez area will have "no bearing" on oil prices in Canada.

He was replying in the Commons to Colin Cameron (CCF—Nanaimo), who asked whether the government is taking action to ensure oil companies don't use the fact oil shipments from the Suez have been cut off as an excuse to raise their prices in Canada.

Mr. Howe said eastern Canada gets most of its oil from Venezuela and the United States. Only a small amount came through the Suez Canal still blocked by sunken shipping.

KHRUSHCHEV NEW PREMIER OF SOVIET?

WARSAW (AP)—Polish Communist circles buzzed today with rumors that Nikita Khrushchev may soon become Soviet premier and that Georgi Malenkov will take his place as first secretary of the Communist party.

The reports said the present premier, Nikolai Bulganin, would retire from public life.

Communist sources here felt that if the changes in the Soviet hierarchy do come about they will not mean a return to Stalinism, despite Malenkov's long association with the Soviet dictator.

In fact, they said, Malenkov was responsible for much of the softening of Soviet foreign and domestic policy during his term as Soviet premier.

V.I. Logger Committed To Trial for Murder

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES
DUNCAN — Thomas Sidney Symes, 31-year-old logger, today was committed for trial in a higher court on a charge of murdering Paul Richard Powlung, 25, early New Year's Day.

The accused was committed throughout the preliminary hearing on the charge, held before Magistrate A. C. Sutton. He will appear in Spring Assize Court.

Chief witness of the 10 who appeared during the morning hearing was Henry Van Vonkenman, who described a visit paid to him by Symes "sometime between 5 and 6 a.m." on New Year's Day.

Symes had a .30-30 rifle with him, with cartridges in the magazine. Symes also carried an empty cartridge case, he said.

Van Vonkenman said that after talking to Symes he persuaded him to go to the police.

Powlung, also a logger, had worked with Symes in various logging camps.

He was shot at about 5:45

a.m. New Year's Day in the room of Mrs. Ramona Symes, estranged wife of the accused, at a Herbert Street rooming house. Mrs. Symes, who was in the room when the shooting occurred, was in court today but was not on the witness stand.

Alistair I. Macdonald appeared for Symes, and Robert J. Harvey represented the Crown. Symes is being held at Oakalla Prison pending the trial.

U.K. Announces Talks to End Yemen Conflict

LONDON (AP)—Britain announced today preliminary discussions have started on ways to ending the desert fighting on the ill-defined borders between Yemen and Aden.

A foreign office spokesman said the government of Aden was consulting tribal chieftains in the British protectorate on the possibility of expanded talks. The foreign office also has been in contact with the Yemeni charge d'affaires in London.

There has been sporadic fighting between Yemeni tribesmen, augmented by Yemeni regular troops, and British tribal forces of Aden, helped by RAF jet planes in the frontier area. The scene is at the southern end of the Red Sea on the Arabian peninsula.

Yemen contends the British have invaded Yemen while Britain insists the Yemenis have been crossing the border into Aden for years and are being driven out.

The Star says investigators digging into the maze of stock market records for evidence against the three turned up indications of practices frowned upon by Ontario Securities Commission. The malpractices included placing phoney stock orders to stimulate a market for low-price mining and oil shares.

The paper quotes OSC chairman Col. O. E. Lennox: "We are going to . . . take necessary action."

MEDICAL MURDER?

Widow Enslaved As Drug Addict Yard Claims

EASTBOURNE, England (AP)—Dr. John Bodkin Adams was accused today of enslaving a wealthy 81-year-old widow by turning her into a drug addict, after she changed her will in his favor.

The prosecution outlined its case against the 57-year-old bachelor physician at a hearing in this seaside resort where many old people come to spend their last days. Scotland Yard Superintendent Herbert Hannam built up the case after painstaking study of the wills of 400 rich Eastbourne residents.

Prosecutor Melford Stevenson suggested the defence may take the line that the doctor merely was easing the death of a woman already dying.

He told how Adams was approached by the Scotland Yard detective on Dec. 10 during the investigation of the death of the widow, Mrs. Edith Morrell. When questioned, the prosecutor said, Adams replied simply: "Easing the passing of a dying woman is not all that wicked. She wanted to die. That can't be murder. It is impossible to accuse a doctor."

Adams received a Rolls Royce and a valuable chest of antique silver under Mrs. Morrell's will. The prosecutor said the stout, bespectacled doctor also had been trying to get Mrs. Morrell to leave a locker box full of jewelry which she kept at her bank.

"It will become apparent to you that Mrs. Morrell was a somewhat capricious will-maker and it was essential from Adams' point of view, if he wanted to benefit, that she must die at a moment favorable to him," the prosecutor said.

Adams, perspiration rolling off his forehead, listened intently, taking detailed notes on the court proceedings. The case is not yet at the trial stage—this hearing is merely to determine formally whether the prosecution has sufficient evidence on which the murder case can be referred to trial.

Scores of persons gathered along rain-swept streets to catch a glimpse of the doctor as he was led to the courthouse. Only about 80 persons, some of whom had waited since before daybreak, were able to attend the preliminary hearing.

Adams, who has practised in Eastbourne for more than 30 years, has also been charged with 16 offences under the forgery, larceny and cremation acts. These charges, however, were adjourned until the hearing of the murder charge.

The prosecutor said Adams, while treating the aged widow, gave Mrs. Morrell "massive quantities of morphine and heroin."

The court was told that Adams had "a lively personal interest" in Mrs. Morrell's will.

Frigid Arctic Air Blankets All Canada

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadians shivered today in frigid Arctic air that spread almost from the east to west coast. There was little hope the bone-chilling temperatures would moderate in many areas by tonight.

(See page 11 for city and island weather story.)
Bright, sunny skies over most provinces Sunday failed to offer

much comfort to those who ventured into the chilly air.

The weatherman had bad news for Northern Ontario, predicting the cold wave would tighten its grip there. Sudbury recorded 32 degrees below zero Sunday night and Kapuskasing 31 below.

White River, known as the coldest place in Ontario, clung to its dubious honor with a Sunday reading of 53 degrees below.

In northern British Columbia it was even colder. At Prince George it hit a low of 40 below zero and Snag, Y.T., marked up 25 below.

With the price of milk likely to rise, we'll have to stop some of this drinking on the qt.

Armed V.I. Loggers Nab 2 Theft Suspects

PORT ALBERT — An alert logger was responsible for the apprehension and arrest of two men Sunday afternoon at Sarita River logging camp on the Albert Canal 30 miles south-west of here.

The two are held in jail here and face multiple charges of theft.

A. T. Kachowski saw a boat moored at the wharf with what he suspected to be a stolen outboard motor on the deck.

He sought the help of T. J. Blower, personnel manager at the camp. They armed themselves with a rifle and a shotgun, awakened the two men on the boat, and held them until two RCMP constables arrived by air from here.

The arrests followed events at Bamfield, at the mouth of the canal, that caused police to make a full investigation.

CRUISER WRECKED

They found that early last week a 32-foot cruiser was wrecked at Cape Beale, at the mouth of Barkley Sound and five miles from Bamfield. Two men aboard were taken to the Bamfield lifeboat station, and cared for by John Logvinoff of the station staff, for three days.

After they left it was noted clothing and other goods were missing. A boat also was missing from the village.

The cruiser totally wrecked at Cape Beale had been missing from Vancouver for about three weeks.

Victoria funeral directors have informed the city council in future the funeral costs for indigents will be $125 plus burial or cremation charges. This charge was $75 in the past. The letter informing of the increase was tabled by council parks committee today until discussions on the matter have been held with other municipalities in the area. The city pays all costs for funerals of indigents.

KE'S PLAN TO CRUMBLE — KHRUSHCHEV

LONDON (Reuters) — Nikita Khrushchev, Soviet Communist party chief, Sunday night, launched a heated attack against the Eisenhower doctrine for the Middle East, predicting that it is doomed to crumble against the "granite rock" of the Soviet Union.

Tass news agency quoted him as telling a mass meeting in Tashkent that the Eisenhower plan was "aimed against the Soviet Union" but like the Truman doctrine it would fail.

Khrushchev charged that "the imperialists have raised a savage howl against the Soviet Union and the whole Socialist camp."

But, he added, that is understandable because the Western rulers "cannot reconcile themselves with the successful development of the Soviet Union and of all the Socialist countries."

Martin Fears Asians To Seek 'Short-Cuts'

By JOHN E. BIRD

OTTAWA (CP) — Health Minister Martin says unless democratic Asian countries are "understood" by the West, there is a danger of them attempting "authoritarian short-cuts on the road to modernization."

He also said in an interview following his arrival here Saturday night from a nine-week tour of South and Southeast Asia that the Commonwealth "is a mighty instrument for peace, not only in Asia but all the world."

Mr. Martin said there is an intense desire on the part of Asians to maintain independence and to preserve their historical traditions through democratic procedures.

But, he said, there are enormous physical problems to be overcome.

There is a continuing risk that unless the Asian countries are understood by the West, some Asian countries which have begun to travel the way of democracy may be tempted to try what may appear to be authoritarian short-cuts on the road to modernization," the statement said.

Alderman Asks Rezoning For Showrooms

Application to rezone a 200 to 400 feet parcel of land fronting on Oak and Tolmie, in Saanich, from residential to commercial, will be heard by Saanich council tonight.

Applicant is Millard H. Mooney, city alderman and proprietor of Mooney and Sons auto body shop, truck and farm equipment dealers.

Mr. Mooney said he hopes to be able to start re-location of his farm equipment dealership to his new property, just off Douglas Street, sometime this year.

A building with minimum requirements for the firm's needs would cost in the neighborhood of $300,000, Mr. Mooney estimated.

Property is located in a growing commercial and light industrial area. It was purchased in 1950 and Saanich council recommended rezoning to commercial use in 1951, but no by-law was drawn.

Land has been leveled and prepared for development for more than a year.

TRUCK PLUNGES THROUGH ICE; FIVE DROWN

KENORA, Ont. (CP) — Bodies of five men were recovered Sunday from a truck that became a tomb when it plunged through the ice of a lake 20 miles north of here.

Eleven other men escaped when the truck went through the ice backwards about noon Saturday, trapping all but three men in the tarpaulin-covered back and leaving only the cab jutting above the ice which covered 15 feet of water.

The three men in the cab clambered to safety and helped cut the tarpaulin so eight passengers could escape into the icy water. The others were caught in the truck.

LEEDEY, Okla. (AP) — Five boys aged seven to 14 were drowned Saturday when the ice broke beneath them on a farm pond where they were playing.

New Attempt For Tearoom In Beacon Hill

City council parks committee launched a new attempt today to introduce profit-making ventures in Beacon Hill Park.

The committee, headed by Ald. Geoffrey I. Edgelow, felt the new revenues would reduce costs of park maintenance for the taxpayers.

An interpretation of the deed of trust by which the city holds the park for the provincial government was that no commercial venture could legally be carried on there. This was endorsed by former city solicitor Arthur Patton.

Ald. E. D. McEwen told the committee he had checked the matter a year ago with the B.C. Attorney General's Department:

CAN DO IT

"I was told the city had every right to use the park as it liked, provided it didn't interfere with the rights of others."

The committee decided to ask council to press the government for specific instruction on what uses can be made of the park.

Parks administrator W. H. Warren said parks committees have made similar attempts for three years. Last year Ald. Don Smith was delegated to take the matter up at provincial level. No report was made.

The committee indicated a tea room would be the first experiment if approval was obtained.

"We could make the park self-supporting in future years," said Ald. Edgelow.

Channel 12 Boost in Power All Set for Saturday Night

Only a blizzard will prevent Bellingham's television station from boosting its Channel 12 power Saturday night at 10:30.

David Mintz, general manager of station KVOS-TV, said today: With its transmitter placed on half-mile high Mt. Constitution, Orcas Island, Channel 12 will go to maximum 224,000 kilowatts from its current 34,000.

"Taking into consideration the height of our transmitter and the new power load," said

Mr. Mintz, "we will be as strong or stronger than any television station in the U.S."

Mr. Mintz explained that the chief problem in meeting its power boost date is the weather. A crew of engineers has been consistently battling blinding snows and freezing cold in an effort to meet the deadline.

"The boys built a shelter about the tower where they were working," he said, and worked all night Saturday and Sunday. Thanks to them we're on time but another blizzard would force a postponement."

Macmillan Backs Eden on Suez In New Cabinet

Lloyd Retained as Foreign Secretary; Butler Bereft of Real Authority

LONDON (CP)—Britain's new Conservative government wears the look of a right-wing administration which isn't going to waste any time apologizing about what happened in Suez.

The team chosen by Prime Minister Harold Macmillan appears to favor advocates of the Suez intervention at the expense of those who urged restraint.

Surprisingly, Selwyn Lloyd remains at the foreign office, despite confident predictions that he would be one of the victims of the reshuffle. There are nevertheless persistent reports that he is merely "keeping the seat warm" for the Marquess of Salisbury, 63-year-old lord president of the council.

Salisbury is the so-called "grey eminence" of modern Conservative governments, always in the background but wielding tremendous influence. He is a Cecil, a member of the family which has been a power in the land since the days of the first Elizabeth.

The new appointments appear to isolate Richard A. Butler, once regarded as the Conservative party's heir apparent.

Butler remains lord privy seal and leader of the House of Commons, with the added duty of home secretary, but is still bereft of the authority of a great department of state.

His isolation is heightened by the fate of his political supporters and proteges. Iain Macleod, thought to have been a Suez moderate, and long associated with Butler in party planning and search, remains minister of labor, confounding commentators who had tipped him for higher office.

Macleod and Derick Heathcoat Amory, who remains as minister of agriculture, are the only Suez moderates remaining.

In contrast, a considerable promotion goes to Peter Thorneycroft, 47, who leaves his trade minister's job to take over as chancellor of the exchequer, one of the top portfolios.

His appointment may mark the beginning of a new triumvirate of Macmillan, Butler and Thorneycroft to replace the old trio of Macmillan, Butler and Sir Anthony Eden.

Thorneycroft, who demonstrated liberal views on trade in his last office, has been one of the principal supporters of the move to tighten trading links between Britain and Europe.

Among those reappointed to their old jobs were Lord Kilmauir, lord chancellor; the Earl of Home, secretary of state for Commonwealth relations; and Harold Watkinson, minister of transport.

Other supporters of the Suez campaign who won recognition from Macmillan included Viscount Hallgaham, Eden's first lord of the admiralty—a non-cabinet post—who was appointed minister of education, and Alan Lennox-Boyd, retained as colonial secretary.

Macmillan, called on Queen Elizabeth at Buckingham Palace Sunday night to obtain her approval for the appointments, a formality. Then he let it be known that he was off to keep a dinner appointment with Eden.

The average age of the new cabinet is 53, compared with 55 in the Eden cabinet.

Thorneycroft, who demonstrated liberal views on trade in his last office, has been one of the principal supporters of the move to tighten trading links between Britain and Europe.

Among those reappointed to their old jobs were Lord Kilmauir, lord chancellor; the Earl of Home, secretary of state for Commonwealth relations; and Harold Watkinson, minister of transport.

Other supporters of the Suez campaign who won recognition from Macmillan included Viscount Hallgaham, Eden's first lord of the admiralty—a non-cabinet post—who was appointed minister of education, and Alan Lennox-Boyd, retained as colonial secretary.

Macmillan, called on Queen Elizabeth at Buckingham Palace Sunday night to obtain her approval for the appointments, a formality. Then he let it be known that he was off to keep a dinner appointment with Eden.

The average age of the new cabinet is 53, compared with 55 in the Eden cabinet.

NEW BRITISH CABINET of Harold Macmillan contains some surprises. Selwyn Lloyd, left, was re-appointed Foreign Secretary; Peter Thorneycroft, centre, gets major promotion to Chancellor of the Exchequer; Richard A. Butler, right, remains Lord Privy Seal and also is appointed Home Secretary. (AP Wirephoto.)

DULLES WARNS U.S. SENATE

Mid-East May Be 'Decisive Test In Communist-Freedom Fight'

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Dulles said today the Middle East may present "the decisive test in the struggle between Communism and freedom."

Communist leaders "will take every risk they dare to take" to win, he said.

"I do not say that this is the last test, although it could well be the decisive test," Dulles told a joint session of the Senate foreign relations and armed services committee.

"When the stakes are so great," he said, "I do not believe the Congress of the United States should play, or wants to play, merely the role of an observer. It possesses assets, perhaps decisive assets, to throw into the struggle."

Dulles was before the senators, at an open hearing, to seek support for the administration's request for standby authority for President Eisenhower to use troops to counter any Communist aggression in the Middle East.

Eisenhower also seeks authority for economic and military support for free nations in that area.

MIGHT LOSE MIDEAST

Last week, in testimony to the House foreign affairs committee, Dulles said the Middle East "is very likely to be lost" unless Congress gives the administration swiftly the special powers it has asked.

Some people contend Eisenhower already has all the military authority he needs, as commander-in-chief of the U.S. armed forces. Others believe the military and economic aspects of the proposed emergency program should be separated, with the administration required to submit separate detailed requests for economic aid projects.

Then there are those who say Congress should not go beyond a declaration, without force of law, that the United States is deeply concerned with the stability and security of the Middle East. And there are congressmen in flat opposition to any part of the Eisenhower plan.

All this points to possibly extensive debate in the House and, particularly, the Senate after their committees finish work on the proposed Middle East resolution.

Dulles, in his testimony last week, said it would be "very regrettable" if the resolution does not get through Congress by the end of this month.

Tossed 7 Floors, Baby Survives Fairbanks Fire

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Nearly 50 persons escaped by leaping into nets or climbing down shaky ladders as fire sent acrid smoke swirling through the city's largest apartment building Sunday.

One man died and 14 others were injured, including two women whose spines were fractured as they leaped into fire nets. The others were overcome by smoke or suffered cuts.

More than 300 persons were believed to have been in their rooms when the blaze broke out in the new, nine-storey Northward building.

Although the fire was confined to the basement, clouds of choking smoke swept up elevator shafts and stairwells to fill the halls and seep into apartments.

One woman tossed her heavily-bundled six-months-old baby seven floors to a net below and then jumped after her. Both escaped serious injury.

The 220-apartment building has a population of about 700, but nearly half had left the building to attend church or go to work in the 15-below-zero weather.

A Policy of Makeshift

FACING THE LATEST OF MANY controversies over his natural gas policy, Mr. Howe had three options. He could stand by his unprofitable contract with Trans Canada Pipe Lines and its huge government subsidies. He could insist that the contract be changed to give Canada a higher (and available) price for prairie gas. Or he could take over the whole pipeline project as a government enterprise.

Evidently Mr. Howe has selected the first option. He will drive through the existing bargain, even though its cost is unnecessarily high to the gas producers, to the gas consumers and to the Canadian taxpayers. If Mr. Howe has the cabinet and the Liberal majority in Parliament behind him, as seems apparent, there is nothing to stop him. And if Trans Canada can raise the necessary capital in the financial markets a few days hence, as seems likely, the unsatisfactory deal arranged last spring is to be our national policy.

As was to be expected, a problem almost too complex for public understanding has been widely misrepresented. Events have been moving so fast in this struggle of corporate giants that even Mr. Howe has been unable lately to keep up with them.

For example, this newspaper and others that have been following these events, reported a few days ago that four American corporations were endeavoring to join forces, share the Canadian gas imported from the Trans Canada pipeline and thus assure an immediate import permit from the Federal Power Commission at Washington; for so long as these corporations were quarreling, and three of them opposing an import permit, the Power Commission would not render a decision.

Mr. Howe denied in Ottawa that these arrangements were under way. Yet at almost the same hour a spokesman of one of the American companies was telling the newspapers that the Big Four of the middle west were indeed seeking an agreement.

Whether they come together or not, whether an import permit is granted or refused, Trans Canada can go ahead with its pipeline, even if it can sell no gas in the United States, since it is underwritten by the Canadian treasury. But these remarkable developments show how greatly the true situation is misunderstood in Ottawa.

Too Little for Too Much Labor

IN CERTAIN PARTS OF EASTERN Canada too many farmers are located on land so poor that it produces only a meagre living from their best efforts.

Economically they would be better off, and the country would be better off, if they were relocated on more fertile ground or diverted into new occupations. In many cases their present holdings could, revert to wild land suitable for growing pulp trees.

Prime Minister St. Laurent doubtless had this in mind when he asked the Senate to inquire into land use in Eastern Canada. The Senate has time and ability to make a valuable study of this question.

The problem of land use is not, of course, limited to Eastern Canada. It is one which engages the interest of authorities elsewhere in this country and throughout the United States.

But there is one feature of farming in Quebec and certain other regions east of Ottawa peculiar to that territory. The day is gone when the bulk of Quebec's population is composed of habitant farmers. Most of the people in that province have responded to a delayed industrial revolution and are now engaged in productive enterprise removed from the land.

There is, nevertheless, a strong segment of the people wedded to the land that belongs traditionally to the family. The race of which Again, Premier Manning, who is supposed to know all about these things, says he wants the highest possible price for Alberta gas, but 25.8 cents per thousand cubic foot, as offered by Trans Canada, is all the American importers will pay and all that the Power Commission will authorize.

The fact, of course, is that certain American importers already have offered to pay at least 30 cents and can pay it—because their costly distribution systems are built—without raising the price to the American consumers. There is no reason why the Power Commission should not authorize such a price if the consumers are thus protected.

To be sure, the Tennessee Gas Transmission Company, which has a contract with Trans Canada and largely controls its policies, may not be able to pay more than 25.8 cents because it must build a new distribution system to handle Canadian gas. But the Canadian Government is unwilling to explore any better alternative to this low price. The Government stood by last July while Trans Canada renewed its contract with Tennessee for a year without attempting to get a better price.

The truth about these strange affairs is that Mr. Howe, after a humiliating defeat in the cabinet two years ago, is determined to get the Canadian pipeline built with the least possible delay. His prestige is fully committed to it. He evidently feels that he cannot admit any mistake or seek a better bargain. And up to now Parliament has been too confused to discuss these issues intelligently.

If the deal is going through as planned by Mr. Howe, British Columbia should remember one obvious fact: While the national taxpayers' money, part of it the money of British Columbians, is being thrown behind Trans Canada, the pipeline now being built through British Columbia from the Peace River country has been entirely financed without any Government subsidy.

No subsidy was required for a trans-Canada line, since private builders were willing to undertake it out of their own resources, but their offer was rejected. In British Columbia we must pay our own way and yet, as national taxpayers, contribute to a project outside our borders. Such is the ramshackle makeshift called a national gas policy.

William Henry Drummond wrote—"De fader of me he was habitant farmer, ma gran'fader too an' hees fader also"—is not entirely extinct and there remains a strong sentimental attachment between such people and the property that has been theirs for generations.

For them any relocation proposal will encounter emotional opposition and that emotional opposition should be honored. It is to be hoped, however, that the Senate will be able to devise means of persuading a large part of the people living inadequately on such farms to leave their marginal land for their own benefit, as well as for the benefit of Canada's productive growth.

The traditional ties between families and their farming land are not so enduring in the west. The most effective use of land is still a matter of concern—as instanced by the philosophy of British Columbia's Natural Resources Conference—and is receiving increased attention in this part of the continent. The advice of the district agriculturist, for instance, plays an important part in helping a potential settler to choose his home site and the use to which he will put his property.

Science and education combine to avoid some of the mistakes in land use common in older parts of Canada. Conceivably those forces could be a major influence in improving the position of farmers in the east whose labors are out of all proportion to the rewards they yield.

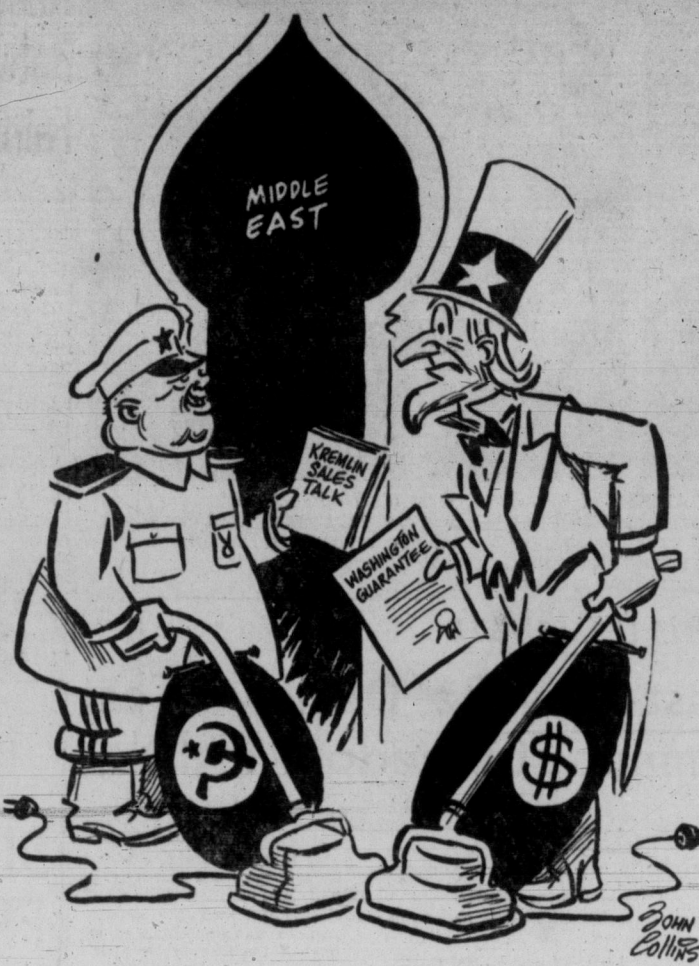

Those Liquor Prices

BRITISH COLUMBIANS, STILL nursing resentment over the recent large increase in rye prices, will get little comfort from a news item which notes that in Manitoba rye prices went up by only 10 cents for a 12-ounce bottle and 15 to 20 cents for a 25-ounce bottle. British Columbia increases were three or four times this much. Several brands of Canadian rye still sell for $4 a bottle in Manitoba.

Even more annoying is the news that Manitoba at the same time reduced Scotch whisky prices by 25 cents to 40 cents for a 26½-ounce bottle. The prices of Canadian and imported wines were decreased by five to 30 cents a bottle. But with all these changes, it is estimated that Manitoba's revenue from liquor will increase by $200,000.

The recent B.C. grab appears even more inexcusable than it did before.

FROM WASHINGTON

By STEWART ALSOP

State of the President

NOW that the President has given his report on the state of the nation, a report on the state of the President seems to be in order. The state of the President, according to those who should know, can be summed up very briefly. It is good. Take the state of the Presidential health first.

Alsop

President, and probably no man in history has ever had his physical condition subjected to such careful and continuous scrutiny. His doctors brood over him like a dozen hens with one chick.

Almost every day, his blood is tested, his blood pressure taken and his pulse felt. The mildest of complaints—a headache or a stiff shoulder—is treated like a federal offense.

Aside from this daily testing and probing, and the occasional big ceremonial hospital examinations, the President is also very regularly subjected to searching check-ups at the White House. Only a few days ago, for example, Dr. Thomas Mattingly, the heart specialist, performed a thorough examination, and gave the President a clean bill of health.

Compensations

The President grumbled a bit at first over all this fussing over him. But there are certain compensations. Before his illness operation, he used to have stomach cramps—mostly mild but occasionally very painful—much more often than was generally known. He has not had them recently, and in this sense, bar recurrence, he is better off than before his operation.

There are other compensations. His doctors have decided that regular exercise is not only good for the President, but essential to his well-being.

At Gettysburg, recuperating from his operation, the President was denied all exercise, and he brooded, and stubbornly refused to gain weight, which worried the doctors more than they cared to admit. But as soon as he got a golf stick in his hand, his weight began to come back, and the President now again has to keep a watchful eye on the scales.

Golf and Swim

The President goes to bed early, usually by nine, gets up early, usually by seven, and works hard all morning. But every afternoon he knocks off work to exercise, with the unclouded conscience of a man who is only following doctors' orders. He gets in some golf almost every fair day, and a swim is a regular afternoon occurrence, rain or shine. He swims in the heated White House pool, sometimes alone, sometimes with a grandchild, and often with his boon companion George Allen, perennial friend of Presidents.

His relaxations are mild—a Western movie (the only kind he likes); a whisky and soda or sometimes two (also ordered by his doctors); and bridge, most often with Allen, Gen. Alfred Gruenther, and William Robinson, president of the Coca Cola Company.

Under this regimen, according to those who see him often, the President is in an excellent state of mind as well as health. He still blows up from time to time about small matters. When he found that he had signed a proclamation fixing the date of Thanksgiving on the day fixed by Franklin Roosevelt, rather than the traditional date, he almost blew the roof off the White House.

'No Explanations'

When irked, he likes to fix members of his staff with a basilisk eye, and repeat an old army saying: "No explanations are required, because no explanations will be accepted."

But he is a great deal calmer in spirit than he once was. He still likes to get away, but he no longer regards the White House as a prison. Above all, though he still hesitates to use the full power of the Presidency, he has a sense of inner assurance he lacked in his first years as President.

To this optimistic report on the state of the President, two warning footnotes must be added. First, obviously, there is no way to insure a man with the President's medical history against accidents. Second, less obviously, the President's enormous prestige is, in a sense, a positive danger to him.

Staff Scared

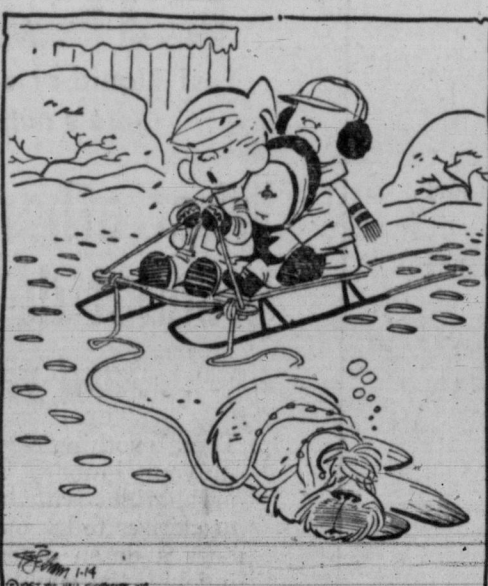

His staff members and most of the other men with access to him are scared of him, less because of his peevish temper than because he has come to seem somehow larger than life. There is hardly anyone now who is willing to stand up to him, to argue with him, to criticize his policies, to point bluntly to the dangers and difficulties ahead.

The Democrats, cowed by the Eisenhower political magic, hardly dare breathe a word against him, while the President is more immune from press criticism than any of his predecessors without exception.

Even before his first election, Eisenhower used to tell friends that the great danger was that he would be transformed into a kind of miracle worker, who could supposedly solve all problems with a wave of a wand. That danger is now very real, and it is a danger which must be taken most seriously, in a Democracy. Meanwhile it is good to know that the state of the President is good.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"OKAY, LET'S GO! MUSH! TAKE OFF! SIC 'EM! MUSH! ... AW, RUFF! WAKE UP!"

From Our Files

Jan. 14, 1897 — The case of the Ariel was taken up by the Behring Sea Claims Commission this morning. The claim is on account of that schooner on July 30, 1889, in Behring Sea by the U.S. cutter "Rush".

Jan. 14, 1917 — Low-lying levels in the Victoria district have experienced sharp temperatures in the last two or three days and ponds are nearly ready for skating.

Jan. 14, 1937 — Statutory deductions of 2 per cent from the cheques of wage earners for health insurance are compulsory starting March 1, but no benefits can be declared unless the employee is registered.

As Our Readers See It

More Than Meets the Eye

It must be obvious to all who are able to see that labor unions can do almost anything and get away with it.

During this last ten years labor has demanded a wage increase nearly every year and received it even though it meant higher prices for goods and services and real hardship for those living on small incomes, especially elderly people.

Now labor unions have shut down one of the world's largest railways because the company refused to employ firemen who are no longer needed.

In this case there wasn't the slightest reason for a strike as the company offered other employment to those who would be affected by the lay-off.

This was a very generous offer and should have been greatly appreciated, but the offer was refused and a strike called with the result thousands were unemployed.

However, I believe there was more behind this strike than most people realize. Personally, I think it was a test case or a feeler to see how the government and the people would react before making further moves toward their objective which seems to be complete control of Canada's resources.

These actions to me seem very similar to communist methods, or strategy, and will have about the same effect if people don't wake and do something to outlaw strikes which have become a curse.

Depressing Picture

I was very struck by the depressing picture of the results of education, as quoted Mr. L. J. Pepper's letter in your valuable paper on Monday evening.

To my mind the failure is simply a fulfillment of the prophecy which we find in Daniel 12, verse 4, which in part read, "Many shall run to and fro. And knowledge shall be increased."

Because it is not the knowledge of God's purpose for mankind as revealed in his word, we now live in the time of trouble reserved for the time of the end.

PROPHECY.

Gordon's and Biffers

So Mr. Gordon's report has raised a storm! I should think so, too. I see he suggests that property owners should pay even more than they do now and that automobiles should be taxed. Well, what are they now if they aren't taxed just as much as we can be.

We pay sales tax when we buy the car. Every year we fork out for new licence plates. Every gallon of gas and pint of oil is taxed. And he has the colossal nerve to suggest a "city tax"!

As for home-owners paying even more, it is hard enough for some of us now to keep our homes going, and there surely must be enough old people who can't support themselves without forcing even more out of their homes. It is time to look elsewhere for funds than to the home-owners.

In England nowadays there is quite a large section of the population known as the "new poor". These are people who have been nearly taxed out of existence. Evidently Mr. Gordon would like the same sort of thing to happen here.

"HOME OWNER."

Sympathy

I called on a lady when in Vancouver and while we were chatting in front of a lovely fire, as it was a cold, wet evening, her daughter came in to say that the paper boy was at the door.

The lady called to the boy to come back at the beginning of the week "But," said the girl, "he called before, Mum." The reply was "Well I have no change now, and be sure to tell him to put the paper on the verandah. It was all wet lying on the steps tonight."

I have had many paper boys during my lifetime and have, with few exceptions, found them fine lads. I have always made a point of having the money ready for them when due, and if by any chance they have had to call back again, I have apologized, as I felt I should. If I have had to complain, I have done it in a courteous way.

Returning to my hotel that evening, I was wondering what my reaction, as an adult, would be if I had had to turn out that wretched evening, make calls for money due to me, and then to be told to be sure to put the paper on the verandah!

Irate

As a subscriber to your paper, I would like to say that I consider your headline on the resignation of Sir Anthony Eden in poor taste to the extreme. As for the comment of Old Vic on the subject—far from being funny, it was a disgrace, and an affront to every decent Canadian who had the misfortune of reading your paper of January 9.

AN IRATE CANADIAN

For Stronger UN

The same nations which can make local regional pacts, such as NATO effective, can make the United Nations effective also. If these nations put the effort, intelligence, and funds now allocated to regional pacts into the United Nations, the UN would become a vital directing force in world affairs.

The Suez situation showed that even a feeble effort by the UN can be effective because it is backed by world opinion. In fact, from the point of view of the so-called Great Powers, the U.N. was too successful in the Suez case.

National governments, such as those of Great Britain, France, the U.S.A. and the U.S.S.R. do not want too effective an international authority. As UN authority and importance increase, the authority and importance of national governments in international affairs decrease.

An effective UN would take action in the Suez perhaps not acceptable to the governments of Britain and France. UN action in North Africa would not likely suit France. In Formosa and China it would not suit the U.S.A. and in Eastern Europe UN action would not suit Russia. So not one of the powers will give its fullest support to the international government.

An effective UN would also deal with the armament race and cut the profits to the Merchants of Death. It would replace the rule of national might with the rule of international law. It would substitute an international police force for the existing national armies. It would provide funds for the development of needy areas and thus weaken the power of international finance. In each of these cases there are powerful forces in the world whose power and influence would be reduced by the growing power of a United Nations.

An effective UN will take steps towards establishing peace on earth and goodwill among men of all nations. The people of the world will gain. There is a great responsibility upon us, the people of the democratic countries, to make our voice heard and influence felt through our governments for an international authority based upon justice and law.

Comparison of Profits

Tom McEwan, the editor of the Communist Pacific Tribune in writing his recent trip to Communist China, states in the Tribune issue of Dec. 21, 1936:

"The people's government of China allows these reformed capitalists a maximum 25 per cent profit (per annum) on their Chinese industrial investments, and, as the wife of one of these business men (formerly of San Francisco) told me, 'We can live here very well on that.'"

Well! well! 25 per cent per annum, while the Tribune is constantly screaming its head off if our North American industry were to make over three per cent.

What more is it necessary to say?

Cloudy on the Middle East

MR. DULLES in his public statement did little to clarify and make concrete the new Middle Eastern plan. This uncertainty is due, I think, to the fact that what is really new and of practical importance in the plan is something which it is difficult to talk about in advance. This something new is the authority and the means to negotiate and to bargain with the unaligned Arab states. I may be mistaken but I am supposing that Mr. Dulles is hoping not to have to show his hand before he plays it. His way of getting Congress to vote the authority, the men and the money, without his having to show his hand is to talk very loudly about something else, about the need once again to warn the Soviet Union not to attempt to conquer the Middle East by war.

There are in the plan two related yet separable parts. One is the warning to the Soviet Union not to a Soviet satellite, if there were one, not to commit overt military aggression.

There is good reason for thinking that by breaking up the package and by taking the two parts separately, Congress would help to make the overall plan more likely to succeed. For one of the great defects of the Eisenhower-Dulles approach has been that it seems to imply that in accepting our assistance and our guarantee, the Arab states are aligning themselves with us against the Soviet Union.

Certain of the key countries are unlikely to do this. It might be better, therefore, to deal with the warning to the Soviet Union in one resolution, and with the authority to bargain with the Arab states in another resolution.

termination to resist the "piecemeal conquest of the world by war," will it have done what is necessary to preserve peace and freedom.

But is this good public policy? Would it not be better to separate the warning from the bargaining power? The warning could be adopted promptly and with something very close to unanimity. The short resolution being circulated by Speaker Rayburn would do very well indeed.

It would be a declaration by Congress that "the United States regards as vital to her interests the preservation of the independence and integrity of the states of the Middle East, and, if necessary, will use her armed force to that end."

Should Have Authority

Such a resolution need not, and in my view should not, become a "substitute" for the resolution asked by the President. Congress should give him authority and the means to negotiate in the Middle East. But Congress should act with deliberation and should avoid giving the impression that it thinks war is imminent and that it is being stampeded into signing away its control of the armed forces and of the expenditure of money.

There is good reason for thinking that by breaking up the package and by taking the two parts separately, Congress would help to make the overall plan more likely to succeed. For one of the great defects of the Eisenhower-Dulles approach has been that it seems to imply that in accepting our assistance and our guarantee, the Arab states are aligning themselves with us against the Soviet Union.

Certain of the key countries are unlikely to do this. It might be better, therefore, to deal with the warning to the Soviet Union in one resolution, and with the authority to bargain with the Arab states in another resolution.

Righteousness and Wrath

HOW deadly dull the world would be, if we all thought alike.

And one way I'm not going to think is the way of two tracts put out by an organization that so loves to sell religion at the door. And one article in particular rouses all the rebel in me.

It disapproves of Christmas being held on Dec. 25. The wrong date, it says. Besides, Dec. 25 was the birthday of Nimrod, and Nimrod was a very wicked man.

Well, I can't see that the actual date of Christmas matters one way or another. If the early Christian hierarchy chose Dec. 25 in order to compete with other religious festivals of that time, then that's okay with me. It shows they had a sound grip on reality.

As to Nimrod's birthday being on Dec. 25, we don't have to think of Nimrod. In fact, I doubt whether one Canadian in a thousand has ever heard of him.

This same article disapproves of birthdays. Pagan, it says.

Well, I think birthdays are lovely. A birthday is an occasion when we can say to a friend, "I'm so glad you were born, and that I was lucky enough to know you." What's wrong in that?

It disapproves of giving presents. Well, I like giving something to someone I'm fond of or respect. Where does the wickedness come in?

It disapproves of decorating homes for Christmas.

I think it's a delightful custom. What could be more pleasant or more innocent than to decorate your home with greenery so that it will be a pretty sight for those who come to see you?

Ruth

It disapproves of holly. I love the sight of richly-berried holly in the dead of winter. How bright and beautiful it is. It cheers my heart to see it. Wicked old sinner that I am!

It disapproves of mistletoe. Pagan, it says, and goes on to speak of demonism and superstition and the Lord knows what else.

Well, I never was the type that gay young men longed to kiss beneath the mistletoe. But it seems to me that it's lovely for a shy young girl to be suddenly kissed beneath the "Pagan branch." (By someone nice and suitable, that is. Not by leaping elderly satyr, over-full of gin and jole-de-vivre.) It's the sort of simple, natural surprise that is utterly delightful when one's young. It can wait one away on wings of happiness. I cannot think that it is wrong.

It also disapproves of myths and legends. In my books, many of the most famous myths and legends are really allegories which deal with eternal truths and teach highly moral lessons.

What, for instance, is the real meaning of the story about St. George and the Dragon? What of Beowulf and Grendel?

And the same holds good for many fairy stories. They're symbolical. And the older one grows, the more one realizes that they are vehicles for basic truths.

What about the Greek myth of Demeter and Persephone? It's not just a tale of "heavenly" gods and goddesses. It's a poetic and lovely story of the seasons.

Fortunately, this is a free country where we can all think as we choose.

But I'd rank compassion, joy and thankfulness way ahead of narrow righteousness and wrath. I'd choose the spirit of the New Testament rather than the letter of the Old.

How about it, Fundamentalists?

Heartless Parties

LONDON—Parents here are worried about the latest development of "rock n' roll" parties. Teen-agers are buying pills of the drug amylitrite prescribed by many doctors to alleviate heart trouble. Since it is not on the restricted list, the youngsters can get hold of it at any chemist shop. Taken with alcohol by a healthy young woman, she is made to feel drowsy and it creates a couldn't-care-less attitude.

At parties men bring out the pills of amylitrite when the drinks are being served and breaking off the tops of them, get girls to inhale the drug. One doctor, describing the effects at what are now called "heartless parties," said the "girls who tried it were soon complaining about the heat and feeling sleepy, and what happened later is anybody's guess."

The Ministry of Health has at once decided to inquire into the misuse of the drug and it seems certain that it will go on the restricted list.

UNUSUAL JOB is that of James Blackburn, who is a "legal forger." He works for a firm which specializes in postal advertising. For business executives who like to have their personal signature on such letters that go out but haven't the time to sign them all, Blackburn does the signing.

It usually takes him only half an hour to master the "forgery" and he can then turn out signatures at a rate of a thousand an hour. Before he accepts each assignment, though, a document is drawn up giving him permission to become a forger—legally.

Which reminds me that the best bit of quick forging I ever saw was when I was interviewing a shady type who showed me how easily it can be done. Turn the signature you are forging upside down, he said, and copy what you see. Copying it that way, it is just a series of lines, not letters, and you don't give the show away by tending from habit to form the letters in your own way.

BRITAIN'S NUDISTS—the British Sunbathing Association claims 50,000 members—feel honored that they will be hosts in the coming summer to the annual World Congress of Nudists but they're finding it difficult to find a locale for the convention to which 17 nations will send delegates. The mayors of seaside resorts, always ready in the past to turn on civic welcomes for any convention that will mean business for the town, regard this one as a bit hot to handle.

SYNOPSIS—A disturbance moved southward over the prairies overnight and the trailing edge of the system brought some cloudiness to the interior of the province. At the same time a nearly stationary low-pressure area off the Oregon coast has given rain overnight to some parts of the Washington coast and a few clouds have spread northward to southwestern B.C. In general, cloudiness will decrease tonight and cold temperatures are again in prospect. Another intense core of cold air moving slowly southward from the Yukon allows little hope of an early break in the cold spell.

You can't go ALL-OUT

If you feel ALL-IN

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living, lowered resistance, overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, that "tired-out" heavy-headed feeling often follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter.

ANIMALS AROUND US

Water Fleas Thrive Without Men-Types

By DR. G. CLIFFORD CARL

No body of water is without life, unless it is chemically treated. Each lake, stream, reservoir, and temporary pond on land supports living things as do all parts of the sea. Even hot springs and salt lakes have their peculiar fauna and flora. A newly-created pond soon becomes populated with plants and animals through the agency of seeds, spores, eggs and other resting stages of living things carried by winds, by birds or by other means. Only springs gushing forth from the earth may be completely devoid of some form of life, but before the water has travelled many yards it will pick up its first inhabitants from the earth or from the air. Thus all living space eventually becomes filled.

WATER FLEA

One of the most common aquatic creatures is the water flea, a minute dancing speck just visible to the naked eye providing the light is favorable. It is represented by various species found in all lakes and ponds in almost every part of the world. It swarms at Hill Park much to the delight of amateur aquarists who net out millions of the living specks to fatten up young fish. In the days before chlorination it was not uncommon to find a water flea or two in one's water glass on the dinner table. Whether one drank it or not depended upon one's degree of observation or tolerance to wildlife being on the menu.

TRANSPARENT

Water fleas being true members of the crustacea are enclosed in a protective skin which in their case is extremely thin and transparent, making them almost invisible. Their most conspicuous feature is a pair of darkly pigmented eyes each made up of many facets like a cut diamond. Under a lens the muscles which control the eye movement can be seen as minute filaments of tissue within the head. On either side of the head is a long, branched feeler set with

FEW MALES

In this group of animals males are rarely seen; the population seems to thrive without them. In any case almost all individuals are females each with a brood pouch on her back in which she carries young during their developmental stages. Toward the end of the season a special type of brood pouch with thickened walls is formed and inside are special eggs also with heavy coverings. When a female carrying such a burden sheds her shell the brood pouch is cast off as a separate unit. It then floats on the surface until it lodges in the mud at the edge of the pond or lake where it spends the winter or the dry season as the case may be. With the return of favorable living conditions the eggs hatch to start another generation of water fleas.

PADDLE-HEELERS

First cousin to the water flea is another group of small crustaceans called copepods; the two kinds are nearly always found together in fresh water but not in salt water which is uninhabited by water fleas. Copepods have a different body form but are equipped with paddle-like feelers for swimming as are the water fleas consequently the two groups are often confused. Copepods also differ in that each has but one eye located in the middle of the forehead, like the giant Cyclops of Greek mythology. In fact our most common copepods found in nearly all fresh waters of the world are called Cyclops after this legendary monster.

WATER FLEA

Water fleas and copepods are a valuable source of food for small fish and other similar meat-eating animals. In fresh waters they share the honors but in the sea it is the copepods that are unbelievably abundant forming a most essential supply of protein and fat for all carnivorous marine animals either directly or indirectly. They are the principal agents that convert plant life in the form of minute diatoms and other algae into animal form and are therefore the best cattle of the marine pastures.

Contacts' Pay Off Mayor Tells Rotary

It's not what you know but who you know that counts, Mayor Percy Scurrell told Victoria Rotarians.

He said his recent success in gaining promises of federal aid in construction of Point Ellice Bridge emphasized the importance of "having contacts."

He said it was like belonging to service clubs. "One of the most natural things in the business world."

The mayor said his policy of making new contacts was one of the reasons he attended Rotary district conferences and one reason he attends the Federation of Mayors and Municipalities in Canada.

While at a FMCC meeting in Montreal in November he also took time to visit a friend in the Department of Transport at Ottawa. He went to see him to ask whether the CNR could be required to pay part of the cost of the new bridge where it crosses the railway.

The information he received was that not only could the CNR be asked to pay but the department of transport would also assist in the cost, under a recent amendment to the Railways Act.

$90,000 GAINED

"If I hadn't gone to the Mayors and Municipalities convention, we wouldn't have got this assistance, which will amount to $90,000. It is an example of how important it is to know the right people."

Better Chance for Children In Canada, Says U.K. Lawyer

By ALAN HARVEY Canadian Press Staff Writer LONDON (AP)—A London lawyer who is giving up a secure job and a princely salary to emigrate to Canada, gave his reasons in a single sentence. "I've got four children and I think they'll have a better chance in Canada." The solicitor, who earns £3,000 ($8,400) a year—high by British standards—is one of many who have made up their minds to start over again in Canada. In the last two months or so, the number who have done the same thing has caused a tremendous rush at immigration offices across Britain. One of the worries most often mentioned is rising prices. In the last few months, there have been significant increases in the cost of a wide range of foods, including such staples as bread, milk, potatoes and sugar. Fear of unemployment is particularly acute in the industrial Midlands, where short-time working is being introduced in many plants.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Industrial Index Dips Nearly Point

Senior base metals improved somewhat today on the Toronto Stock Exchange. Western oils, however, were easing and industrials marking time at a lower level.

Metal shares-paced a market decline at New York but air-crafts rose on news of huge government contracts.

AT TORONTO the industrial index dipped nearly a point as Algoma Steel lost 1½ points on a light turnover and Ford A recorded a similar loss. Other declines were mostly fractional. Northspan featured uranium, which was a bit lower because of profit-taking.

Western oils lost ground as Royalite dipped ½ and Bailey Selburn ½. Another index stock, Triad, lost 9 cents. The section's index was off nearly a point. Central Leduc added 35 cents and Canadian Export Gas 75 cents.

AT NEW YORK Bethlehem Steel cut a loss of well over four points to around three. Losses of about two were posted by U.S. Steel, Youngstown, Crucible, Lukens and Jones and Laughlin.

Reports that steel demand is not as strong as expected recently backgrounded the decline in these shares.

Copper shares fell as European demand was reported slow.

Among Canadian issues, McIntyre Porcupine gained a point. Distillers-Seagrams, Dome Mines and Hudson Bay Mining were up fractions. Canadian Pacific and International Nickel finished the day unchanged. On the American Stock Exchange Shawinigan gained ¼ and Brazilian ½.

AT MONTREAL the stock exchange continued to fluctuate irregularly this afternoon as a few industrial price changes reached a point or more.

WITTY UNTIL THE END Humphrey Bogart Screen Idol, Dies

By JAMES BACON
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Humphrey Bogart, one of the movie industry's greatest talents and certainly its leading non-conformist, died today of cancer of the esophagus. He was 56.

As late as Saturday night, Bogie was still Bogie. Talking optimistically with friends, he gave no sign the end was so near.

But Sunday morning he sank into coma from which he never revived. The end came at 2:10 a.m. with one final deep sigh. At his bedside was his wife, actress Lauren Bacall.

Asleep nearby in the sprawling Holmby Hills mansion were the two Bogart children, Stephen 8, and Leslie, 4.

Bogart's physician said it was a spread of the original malignancy that brought death to the academy award-winning star.

Bogart's voice was not affected until the final coma, it was the same old Bogart bark that used to make the toughest screen hoodlums drop the gun.

Bogart had been comfortable in his last days. A recent operation had removed some scar tissue on a nerve and given him much relief.

Funeral arrangements, still pending, called for burial Wednesday at 4 p.m. at Forest Lawn Memorial Park in nearby Glendale, final resting place of many a movie great.

Bogie, the movies' favorite "tough guy," would never admit publicly that cancer would beat him.

"I'm a better man than I ever was," he told a reporter just a few weeks ago.

If Bogart knew he was going to die, he never let on to friends.

A New York newspaper recently printed that death was imminent and when other papers and wire services called to check it was Bogart himself who answered the phone with a caustic:

"What are the ghouls saying about me now?"

Perhaps Bogart's greatest stage success was as killer Duke Mantee in "The Petrified Forest." It was a role that brought him out to Hollywood and made him an overnight movie sensation of him.

When he made "The African Queen" in a jungle location—it won him an Academy Award—he followed a formula at mealtime of little food and plenty of scotch whisky.

While everybody else in the cast and crew suffered all the usual tropical ailments, Bogart stayed healthy as ever.

"Those bugs and mosquitoes used to bite me, then take one buzz and drop dead," he loved to recall.

Bogart's last picture was "The Harder They Fall," in which he played an embittered publicity man and promoter.

Ocean Concert For City Ships

By STUART KEATE
ON BOARD HMCS ONTARIO
—A thousand men and three Canadian ships got together in the middle of the Pacific Ocean Friday afternoon to enjoy a unique band concert.

Fourteen hundred miles out of Esquimalt on the fifth day of the training squadron cruise, Capt. R. P. Welland in the cruiser Ontario decided it was time the three ships had a good close up at each other, with appropriate melodious background.

Accordingly, he ordered the frigates Jonquiere and Stettler into position to port and starboard of "The Big O" and the ship's band welcomed them alongside to the lively strains of "Lady of Spain."

LOUD-HAILER

The music was broadcast to the accompanying frigates by a loud-hailer system from Ontario's boat deck. For half an hour while crewmen of the three ships exchanged greetings and 100 cameras recorded the event, the 15-piece band mixed up classic navy marches with the latest dance music.

For bandmaster Bob McKay of Victoria it was a case of the show must go on. A few hours after his ship left Esquimalt he was informed by cable of the death of his father, Chaplain Horatio Todd was roused from his bunk at 2 a.m. to advise the bandmaster of his bereavement. These are things the public doesn't know about.

The veteran chaplain, who confessed he has been in the service 13 years and never has attended a naval training course, commented the cruise appears to be a lot of fun, but a lot of these boys leave heartaches behind them, the padre observed.

Earlier in the day the men of all three ships heard an address over the communications system called "The Sea Around Us." An information lecture designed to acquaint the crews with natural history of the various regions visited. It was delivered by Instructor Commander Ray Martin of 1054 Holmes Street, Victoria, a one-time University of Toronto paleontologist.

Lunch on Friday featured, of all things, pizza pie. The old navy was never like this.

Wood in Dazzling Performance Before Big Symphony Audience

By AUDREY S.T.D. JOHNSON
Times Music Critic
Largest Victoria Symphony Orchestra afternoon audience since the pairs of concerts were started in 1955, attended the Royal Theatre, Sunday, presumably attracted by the presence of guest pianist Robin Wood, a Victoria native son with an enviable reputation of being one of the more distinguished among young musicians in the United Kingdom.

It was an audience that was richly rewarded; Wood's playing was something no serious musician or music-lover would care to miss. Added to which, the orchestra and Hans Gruber gave a meticulous and perceptible performance of the happy, ingratiating Beethoven Symphony No. 4.

DAZZLING

The intricate polyphony of Bach's Brandenburg Concerto No. 5 is indeed dazzling when presented with such verve and rhythmic significance as was the case on this occasion.

Written for violin, flute and piano with strings, Wood was joined by Clifford Evens and Maurice Crawford, concert master and leading flautist respectively.

While one could not escape the feeling that as a trio, rehearsal time had been insufficient, Wood's performance of the conspicuous piano part—particularly the elaborate long solo at the end of the first movement —was brilliant and authoritative.

ACHIEVED WITH EASE

In this colossal work the pianist is called upon to produce great tonal masses, infinite variety of color and texture, delicate lace-like figures and sweet singing lyric passages.

All of this Wood achieved with an ease, assurance and unmannered vitality that bespoke the mature mastery of a truly fine artist.

His tone production is rich and sonorous, his phrasing and pedalling musical in the profoundest degree. He is at ease with conductor and orchestra.

Dorohoy Nets Four; Mosienko 'Peg Hero'

By The Canadian Press

Seattle Americans turned on the power that has kept them at the top of the Western Hockey League's coast division Saturday night. It was Eddie (Pistol) Dorohoy who pulled the switch.

Dorohoy scored four goals and got two assists to lead the Americans to an almost single-handed 7-1 victory over Vancouver Canucks. Only a goal with less than two minutes remaining saved the Canucks from being shut out.

The loss left Vancouver with only a one-game lead over the third-place New Westminster Royals, who were busy shutting out Victoria Cougars 3-0.

MOSIENKO SCORES THREE

In the prairie division, the Edmonton Flyers failed to add to their league lead as they went down 5-2 before the last-place Winnipeg Warriors. Veteran Bill Mosienko scored three goals.

Brandon Regals were deprived of a chance to creep up on the Flyers when a late train kept them from their Saturday night game with Calgary Stampede.

Dorohoy's goals were divided, two in the second and two in the third. Alex Kuzma fanned in two goals, and Val Fonteyne got the other.

Vancouver's single came from Ching Johnson.

In Winnipeg, two of Mosienko's three goals came in the last period. Hugh Barlow and Murray Wilkie were the other Winnipeg scorers and Don Poile and Larry Hillman counted for Flyers. Wilkie's goal, early in the third period, broke a 2-2 tie and proved to be the winner.

In defeat the Flyers remained atop the WHL's prairie division with a five-point lead over Brandon Regals, who play Calgary Stampede tonight in a game postponed from Saturday because of late-running trains. Ed Johnston played an outstanding game in the Warriors' net as he turned aside 32 shots, while Flyer netminder Dennis Riggins handled only 15.

Lindsay Second In Point Race

By The Canadian Press

Veteran Ted Lindsay of Detroit, has vaulted over linemate Gordie Howe into second place in the National Hockey League scoring race. Lindsay scored two goals and an assist in weekend games and Howe only managed one assist.

Stan Finishes Third In Bing's Tournament

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif.

(AP)—If money talks, it should be saying right now that Jay Hebert is one of the hottest players on the U.S. pro golf circuit.

The 33-year-old veteran of eight pro seasons fired a two-under-par 70 on the wind-whipped Pebble Beach course Sunday to gain a two-stroke victory in Bing Crosby's $15,000 tournament.

Cary Middlecoff, U.S. Open champion and winner here the last two years, shot a 72 and finished second with 215.

Stan Leonard of Vancouver and Lechute, Que., who held a temporary lead at the finish of early play with a third-round 74 for 216, wound up in third place and earned $1,000.

During all of 1956, Hebert, who now plays out of Sanford, Fla., earned $13,139—a respectable amount—but already during the first two weeks of this year he has picked up more than half that amount—$7,075. He was second in the Los Angeles Open last week.

Jay dropped a 12-foot putt for the only sub-par round of the day and a 213 winning total in the 54-hole tournament. He took first prize of $2,500 and also earned $875 for a second-place tie in the pro-amateur, best-ball team play. He combined with Roger Kelly of Los Angeles for 156 in the pro-am, won by Middlecoff and San Francisco hotelman Ed Crowley with 187 for the $1,500 top prize.

WYLLIE IN MONEY

Besides Leonard, two other Canadians finished in the money. Al Baiding of Toronto shot a 77 in the final round for 224 while Bob Wyllie of Calgary was a stroke back at 225 with a 79. Each received $66.66.

A fourth Canadian, Gerry Kesselring of Kitchener, Ont., and Toronto shot an 81 for a total of 230 and finished out of the money.

Former U.S. Open champion Ed Furgol, who had been tied with Leonard at the end of 36 holes, went to a 79 in the high wind and finished at 221.

PNGA Sets Golf Dates

SPOKANE (AP)—Four big

meets were listed on the 1957 tournament schedule of the Pacific Northwest Golf Association, announced today by chairman Ray Zint.

The PNGA's amateur championships for men and women will be played over two Spokane and one north Idaho course July 8-13.

Men will qualify at the Spokane Country Club and Manito courses and women qualify at the Hayden Lake Country Club.

The Pacific Northwest junior girls' tournament will be held June 17-22 at Overlake Golf and Country Club at Medina, near Seattle.

Tentative plans call for a PNGA junior tournament Aug. 26-31 at Tualatin Country Club near Portland.

WINS IN RUSH

NEW YORK (CP)—Argentine-bred Holandes II, trailing a poor eighth on the back stretch, closed with a rush to win the $28,950 San Francisco Stakes Saturday at Santa Anita in Arcadia, Calif.

BIG (7' 2") EWART MEETS LITTLE (6' 3") OPPONENT

HOLYOKE, Mass. (AP)—South Africa's gigantic Ewart Potgieter makes his American debut tonight in a scheduled 10-round heavyweight boxing match with Jeff Dyer of Springfield, Mass.

The bout, marks the comeback of the seven-foot-two, 336-pounder who only recently underwent a serious operation.

Potgieter, admittedly awkward but capable of putting tremendous force behind his blows, is pitted against a six-foot-three, 230-pound opponent.

The South African has won nine fights and came off with a draw in his 10 professional appearances.

A $47,131 operating loss was reported in the Western Interprovincial Football Union. Club's financial statement but the patrons' club chipped in $8,350, the booster club $36,794, and there was $7,431 from the league's gate-equalization fund.

The result, a $5,644 profit for the season.

Hawks Lose Poor Wally For Season

Canadiens Win Two; Andy Beats Wings

By The Canadian Press

According to all that is just, the courageous little guy who fights his way to the top past all obstacles should have it fairly easy from there on. But not Wally Hergesheimer. He just runs into more tough luck.

Hergesheimer, right winger with Chicago Black Hawks, Saturday night suffered the third fracture of a National Hockey League career of less than six seasons—and will probably be out for the rest of the year.

The latest fracture was his right collar bone. It snapped with five minutes left to play as Toronto Maple Leafs were beating Hawks 4-3 in Toronto.

THIRD PLACE

Hergesheimer, a native of Winnipeg, was in hospital when his team left for Chicago and a return match with Leafs Sunday night.

Leafs got a 1-1 tie out of that one before a sparse crowd of 6,648. The three points were good enough to give them undisputed possession of fourth place as New York Rangers lost 3-2 in New York Sunday to Detroit Red Wings after beating the Wings 5-4 Saturday in Detroit.

Montreal Canadiens took two from the slumping Boston Bruins, 4-1 in Montreal Saturday and 3-1 in Boston Sunday.

Ted Kennedy made his comeback at centre official Saturday by appearing in Toronto to a tremendous ovation from 12,929 fans and collecting an assist as well as leading the team through the evening. Mike Nykoluk, Bob Pulford, Rudy Migay and Don Stewart scored the Leafs goals.

Jack McIntyre got two for Hawks and Hee Lalonde scored the third.

A groin injury put Leaf forward Tim Horton out for two weeks.

In the game Sunday Kennedy got his first goal of five games on a soft shot that bounded past goaltender Al Rollins. It appeared to be good enough to win until Hawks' Eddie Litzenberger scored at 2:48 of the third, his 15th this year.

EARLY LEAD

In New York Sunday before 15,095 customers, Detroit jumped into a three-goal lead on goals by Ted Lindsay, his 20th, Norm Ullman and Alex Delvecchio, then had to fight off Rangers in the third as Parker MacDonald and Bill Gadsby scored.

In Saturday's game Delvecchio, Earl Riibel and Lindsay scored. Then in the second, Andy Bathgate, Dean Prentice and Andy Heberton registered for Rangers. Detroit got the lead again on Billy Dea's goal in the third, but Dave Creighton scored for Rangers and then with seven seconds left, Heberton slammed in Prentice's 15-foot rebound for his 14th goal of the year and the winner.

Jean Beliveau collected the final goal for Canadiens on Sunday in Boston before 13,909 fans. The earlier two were by Bernie Geoffrion, his 12th, and Claude Provost, Cal Gardner scored for Bruins.

Clippers Hang on

NANAIMO—Fighting off a desperate last-minute rally, Nanaimo Clippers hung on for a 6-5 victory over Vancouver Pilots in an Island-Mainland Hockey League game here Saturday night.

Clippers almost blew the decision after leading, 5-1, after the second period. Joe Zuback with three goals, Don Ashbee, Arnie Dugan and Earl Robinson scored for the winners.

Hoop Star Glitters Again; All-Stars Down Cloverdale

Victoria's star is shining with new brightness on the basketball horizon today. The polishing job was performed at Central Junior High School Saturday night by an all-star club from the city senior "B" league which carved out a comfortable, 68-52, victory over Cloverdale of the Vancouver senior "A" circuit.

Staged in the hope of helping revive interest in the hoop sport, the game proved that Victoria still harbors considerable basketball talent but only attracted about 150 fans.

Giving away a slight edge in height and conditioning to the visitors, who share first place in the mainland loop with Clover Leafs, the all-stars rode to victory on their abundance of scoring talent.

Cloverdale made it close in the middle stages but the Victorians, with big Johnny Clark handling the pivot chores capably and Norm Baker and Gordy Jones dropping shots from all ranges, appeared the better club most of the way.

All-stars jumped into an 11-0 lead and ran it to 18-2, but

ROYALS HERE TONIGHT

Blue-Line Mix May Be Answer

Victoria Cougars, still looking for a way to climb into a playoff position in the coast division of the Western Hockey League, will have a new look behind the blue line when they tackle New Westminster Royals at Memorial Arena tonight.

A PAINFUL THORN in Victoria Cougar skins this season has been Bev Bentley, goal-tender for New Westminster Royals of the Western Hockey League.

Appearing ready last week to move out of the division cellar, Cougars slipped with a loss to Seattle Friday and skidded five points behind New Westminster when they dropped a 3-0 decision to the Royals at New Westminster Saturday.

Although the Cougar forwards couldn't find a chink in goalie Bev Bentley's armour Saturday, coach Colin Kilburn announced this morning he will leave his attacking units intact but will shake up the Victoria defensive corps for tonight's tussle.

"We have been allowing too many goals because of foolish errors in our own end," said Kilburn, who also stated he would change his defence for the "big one" tonight, perhaps benching one of his rearguards.

DURHAM STRIKES AGAIN

Kilburn is also burning over Royal defenceman Pete Durham's slashing tactics. Durham, who broke Ray Powell's arm with a stick check three weeks ago, rapped Doug Macaulay on the ankle with his stick in Saturday's argument.

The bruised foot is not expected to hamper the smooth winger's work tonight but Kilburn said the Victoria squad will be watching Durham's damaging stick tonight.

Royals led 1-0 at the end of the first period, increased their lead to 2-0 in the second and added a third goal in the final period.

Max McNab, with a goal and an assist, and Gord Fashoway, with two assists, were the top point-getters for Royals. Other Royal goals were scored by Bob Love and Denny Olson.

Goalie Bev Bentley, a Cougar nemesis, stopped 22 shots to earn his fifth shutout this season. Marcel Pelletier handled 39 shots in the Victoria goal.

PENALTY PARADE

Referee Vern Buffey handed out 47 minutes in penalties, 26 to Victoria and 19 to New Westminster. Victoria's penalties included two majors and a misconduct to defenceman Nelson Bullock while New Westminster penalties included a 10-minute team misconduct, handed out when Pete Durham left the bench to join a fight between teammate Arlo Goodwin and Bullock.

New Westminster's first two goals by Love and McNab were the result of sloppy defensive clearing in the Victoria zone.

The third at 16:33 of the third period, was a personal triumph for rookie Denny Olson. He stole the puck from a Victoria defenceman and swept in on the Victoria goal unmolested.

Ken Makes Pro Debut; Meets Modest Pancho

MELBOURNE (AP)—Ken Rosewall makes his debut tonight as a professional tennis player with Pancho Gonzales, of Los Angeles, furnishing the opposition.

Rosewall, winner of the United States amateur title last fall, was signed by promoter Jack Kramer, after he had joined with Lew Hoad in blanketing the United States 5-0 in the Davis Cup challenge round last month. Gonzales qualified to meet the young Aussie in the Kramer-sponsored tour by defeating Tony Trabert, of Cincinnati, in last year's tour.

Bert's Bulls-Eye Boot Wins Pro-Bowl Battle

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Four field goals by Bert Rechichar were more than enough to give the West a 19-10 victory over the East Sunday in the annual professional Bowl battle of the National Football League.

A crowd of 41,177 saw the husky 210-pound back of Baltimore Colts send the ball off the right foot for field goals of 52, 44, 44 and 41 yards to give the West 12 points.

Twice the former Tennessee star sent his teammates from the Western Conference of the NFL into the lead.

Rechichar's opposite number for the East, Sam Baker of Washington Redskins, also thrilled the crowd with a field goal from 52 yards out.

There were also two touchdowns scored, one by each team. The West scored first, with quarterback Ed Brown of Chicago Bears sneaking for one yard in the first quarter. Kyle Rote of the league champion New York Giants tied it up for the East in the second period when he recovered a fumble in the end zone by his teammate, halfback Frank Gifford.

SNOW COLLAPSES BARN

2nd Cup of Coffee Saves Men's Lives

COURTENAY — Saved from death or serious injury by a second cup of coffee. That's the story of Bill Bridges, 63-year-old dairy farmer, and his son Bennie, who toiled all day Friday on the roof of their cattle barn, trying to keep the waterlogged, fast-falling snow from accumulating and collapsing the roof of the 70-year-old structure.

But the task was hopeless and they took time out for a cup of coffee. Then they lingered over a second cup.

As they returned to the barn, the building creaked and fell apart under the weight of 18 inches of snow. None of Mr. Bridges' 150 cattle were inside at the time. However, about 60 tons of baled hay is in danger of spoiling.

Mr. Bridges said he will sell his dairy herd, built up over a lifetime, and start again on the farm where he was born.

COURTENAY (CP) — Charged with assault causing bodily harm to Thomas Wong on Christmas Eve, Larry Sinclair was convicted and fined $300 or two months in prison here Friday.

Vancouver IWA to Urge 30% Hike In Wages at Feb. 22 Convention

VANCOUVER (CP) — Local 1-217 of the International Woodworkers of America will recommend to the 20th district convention Feb. 22 that the union ask a 30-per-cent wage increase when negotiations open on a new master contract.

The local represents 7,000 workers in sawmills and plants in the Vancouver area. About 200 representatives passed the wage demand and other resolutions at a meeting here Sunday.

The meeting was the first held by Local 1-217 which the press has been allowed to attend.

In presenting the wage resolution, Stu Hodgson, financial secretary, said:

"We are going to get all kinds of abuse for these demands. But we know that last year was one of their better years. Their statements so far are window dressing for the start of the campaign against us."

Basic rate now for IWA members is $1.59 an hour.

Snow Tonight Sunny Tuesday

Up-Island Hit by New Snowfall
But All Main Roads Kept Clear

Cloudy skies and the possibility of snow flurries late today will give way to clearing skies overnight and sunshine Tuesday for Victoria, weatherman William Mackie said today.

Up-Island points are not so lucky. Duncan reported one inch of new snow, and Nanaimo three inches.

All main roads are clear however. Highways department crews reported slippery sections between Nanaimo and Port Alberni and Courtenay are being sanded.

Onset of cold weather overnight slowed thawing of snow in most sections.

Cassidy airport near Nanaimo reported 12 inches of snow on the ground, and Port Alberni reported clear skies today, snow still laying on the ground, streets slippery, and auto accidents numerous but all of a minor nature.

18 AT NANAIMO

Overnight low temperatures on the island were: Nanaimo, 18; Patricia Bay, 25; Comox, 17; Victoria, 30.

Mr. Mackie said Victoria's temperature will drop to 28 degrees overnight, and reach a maximum of 38 degrees Tuesday. Winds will be northerly at 20 miles per hour.

LINEMEN BUSY

In the Courtenay area, warm sunshine Sunday following the heavy snowstorm of last week, only increased the troubles of B.C. Power Commission and B.C. Telephone Co. work crews.

Melting snow on telephone lines caused short circuits, again isolating Comox Valley communities where lines had been restored.

Telephone officials said they did not expect to restore complete service to Courtenay and district until the end of the week.

As many as 20 breaks were counted in a mile of single strand of wire.

Milk Workers Seek $30 Monthly Boost

Milk price increase of at least a cent a quart was seen here today following agreement on wage demands by 160 truck drivers and plant employees of Victoria's three main dairies.

Milk Salesmen and Dairy Employees' Union, local 464, decided at a meeting Sunday to ask for a skip-a-day delivery plan and a $30 a month wage boost for drivers, plus an eight-hour day or overtime pay.

It is the same as an agreement signed last month by Vancouver's milk distributors. Distributors there immediately increased their milk prices by two cents a quart, making it 24 cents - Victoria's current price.

Drivers here would receive $300 a month, with commissions on top of this.

16% SAVING

The skip-a-day delivery plan, a union spokesman said, means a saving of about 16 per cent for the distributor in the number of drivers he must employ. Drivers deliver milk to homes once every two days, thus increasing loads per trip.

If distributors here agree to the plan, it would require several months to come into force. Distributors would reduce the number of drivers during this period by natural staff turn-overs rather than by lay-offs, he said.

Demands will be submitted "as soon as possible," the spokesman said.

Distributors affected are Palm Dairies Ltd., Northwest-ern Creamery Ltd., and Island Farm Dairies Co-operative Association.

Wholesale trucks would still continue six-day delivery.

VICTORIA, B.C., MONDAY, JANUARY 14, 1957 11

Census Total Boosted 1,500

Ottawa census authorities have increased the official population of Victoria by 1,500, following protests by city council.

Mayor Percy Scurrell says the increase is worth $48,750 to the city in B.C. per capita grants.

3-Cat Limit Proposed For City

One resident will be limited to three cats if city council adopts recommendations received today from city parks administrator W. H. Warren.

In a report to council parks committee he states any person keeping more than three cats, should be classed as "cat breeders." Cats would mean those over six months old.

Cat breeders would require a $2 licence which would not be issued to anyone located in a residential area, under the Warren plan.

Any complaint of nuisance by cats should be investigated by the medical health officer, the report added.

It classed as "unworkable" a plan suggested by Cats' Protection Association that cat owners should be required to "neuter" cats.

If the report is adopted a cat foundling home on Duchesse Street would be forced to shut down. The city has received complaints because the owners allegedly keep 20 to 30 cats. It is charged they are let out at night and become a nuisance. Thirteen neighbors have complained.

The committee referred the matter to the Union Board of Health for an expression of opinion before taking action on the administrator's report.

Tot Fractures Skull In Fall From Slide

A two-year-old girl who suffered a fractured skull when she fell from a slide in Stevenson Park was reported in "satisfactory" condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital today.

The child, Dolores Stoyles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Stoyles, 1319 Gladstone, was playing with other children when she toppled from the slide Sunday afternoon.

over the next five years, "at most $10,000 a year."

The new figures would move the Victoria census from 53,088 to 54,588.

City manager C. C. Wyatt had earlier contested the count taken last May. He felt it was indicated by building figures, birth and death rates the city actually held 55,000 people.

EXPERTS SENT

The census department at first refused to consider the Victoria protest but later was visited by both Mayor Scurrell and the city manager. It was finally agreed the department would send experts here to determine whether errors were made in the count.

The mayor was advised today of the increase in a letter from Dr. F. T. Fairley, Victoria MP.

Five Hurt In Skid Accidents

Ice-coated streets were blamed for a number of traffic accidents over the weekend in Greater Victoria.

Five persons were taken to hospital for minor injuries, but four were treated and released.

Chow Fan Foo, 53, of 658 Canterbury, and 14-month-old Maevan Ann May Chow were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital at 4:15 p.m. Sunday after the car in which they were riding hit a pole at Government and Princess.

Frank William Crouch, 1636 Hillside, suffered a cut on his leg when the car he was driving skidded into a stone embankment on Bay between Wark and Quadra.

A passenger, Julie Johnson, 60, of 2230 Vista Heights, was also cut on the leg. She was admitted but was expected to be released today.

Denis Joseph Beaulac, 462 Superior, was cut over the eye and received leg abrasions when his car hit the west approach of the viaduct on Esquimalt Road at 4:20 a.m. Sunday.

He was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital but released shortly after.

Rev. Henry Earle Funeral Set For Wednesday

Funeral services for the Rev. Henry Earle, who died in Royal Jubilee Hospital Saturday, will be held in Christ Church Cathedral Wednesday at 1:30 p.m.

Dean Brian Whitlow will officiate. Mr. Earle was an Anglican minister who retired to Victoria 11 years ago. He was 77 at the time of his death.

A graduate of Oxford University, Mr. Earle was ordained in 1902 and served in England until 1905. He moved to St. John's, Newfoundland, and later to Toronto, where his last parish was St. Mark's, Parkdale.

He is survived by his wife Dorothy at home, 1180 St. Louis, three sons in Toronto, a daughter, one sister and a brother. Funeral arrangements are in charge of Chaplin's Funeral Chapel.

Saanich Couple, Wed 60 Years, Live Through 3 Wars, 3 Kings

One of the requisites of a happy and successful marriage is equal sharing, according to Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Richardson, 451 Grange Road, who celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary Sunday.

The couple in their eighties were married in 1897 in St. Peter's Church, Regent Square, London, Eng., on Jan. 12, 1897.

"That's a long time ago," said Mr. Richardson. "The world was different then."

"Marriage life is largely based on share and share alike," he added. "You have

Sommers Report Release Asked

Labor Wants A-G to File RCMP Report in House

The B.C. Federation of Labor, in a brief to the provincial cabinet today, asked "that the attorney-general place before the coming legislative session the full RCMP report on the Sommers case."

The suggestion was contained in a lengthy brief read to the cabinet on behalf of the 15-man delegation by George Home, secretary-treasurer.

There was no amplification. Two Victoria officers, Victor Midgley, second vice-president, and Robert Smeal, third vice-president were members of the delegation, which was led by William Black, president. They represented 100,000 members in B.C.

The brief called for an amendment to the Hours of Work Act providing for a 40-hour work week, pointing out that it is 10 years since the act was amended to provide for a 44-hour week.

NO BLUE RUIN

"During these 10 years a phenomenal development has taken place in B.C.," it was stated. "Instead of the blue ruin prophesied by opponents to reduction of the work week, we have witnessed a strong economic growth, profits have increased, tax returns to all levels of government are greater than ever and there has been a steady rise in living standards."

The government was asked to pass legislation for:

1. All workers to be paid for proclaimed provincial holidays.
2. A minimum working wage of $1.25 an hour.
3. One hundred per cent payment of total earnings to victims of accidents under the Workmen's Compensation Act.
4. An increase of widow's allowances to $100 a month.
5. Full coverage for all industrial diseases.

CHRONIC CASES

The delegation urged that all chronic cases be brought within scope of the Hospital Insurance Act and that treatment provided for in-patients in hospitals be extended to outpatients.

The cabinet was told that overcrowding in major B.C. hospitals "is a disgrace" and a major drive to build hospital beds should be conducted by BCHIS.

Recommending re-establishment of the hospital insurance advisory committee, the delegation requested that labor be given the right of nominating members to the committee.

It urged that the provincial bonus for old-age pensioners be increased to provide a joint federal-provincial pension of at least $75 a month.

On forest policy, the brief recommended:

1. Management of forests and control and supervision of cutting methods be placed in the hands of an established government agency.
2. Intensified research into all phases of silviculture.
3. Provision for adequate fire and insect control.
4. Establishment of a provincial forest utilization laboratory to conduct research on more efficient methods of recovery and use of waste material.

Because of "indications" that unemployment is increasing, the government was asked to step up its public works program and continue to increase efforts made to have interior work done during the winter months.

The delegation further requested a program of low-cost housing in all areas now affected by a shortage of homes, and suggested a government-operated and owned plan of auto insurance to be made compulsory and included as part of the licence fee.

"Such a plan would recognize the social problems involved and provide for full family coverage."

The brief called for a new approach to municipal financing with a municipal tax on industry as the source of wealth in the municipality, and a corresponding decrease in taxes on homes with a basic exemption of $3,000.

It opposed the suggestion of a municipal service tax. The government was asked to introduce a bill permitting Sunday sport and entertainment on a local option basis within the municipalities if so indicated by a referendum vote.

Repeal of the Sunday Observance Act as at present on the statute books was requested.

Establishment of a permanent commission to revise the distribution of electoral seats from time to time was also contained in the brief.

Teenagers Hurt In Car Flip

Two teenagers received minor injuries Sunday when the car in which they were riding missed a curve on the Shawnigan Lake road and overturned.

Treated and discharged from St. Joseph's Hospital were Darlene Curtis, 16, of 1471 Edgewood, and Jim Carvath, 15, of 420 Hillside.

Three other youths in the car were unhurt.

Small Animal Park Asked in Saanich

A zoological park, 15 years in advance of anything in North America, is envisioned for Saanich by provincial museum artist Frank L. Beebe.

Mr. Beebe and an interested group have tentative plans in mind for development of a park for small animals with a minimum of enclosure, and will ask Saanich council at its regular meeting tonight for a later hearing.

"Saanich is the best area in all of Canada to try such a thing," Mr. Beebe said. "It would keep tourists here an extra two days."

For seven years Mr. Beebe was zookeeper of Vancouver's famed Stanley Park zoological section and has an extensive background of experience with animal life.

He claims his concepts for a project such as this are 15 years ahead of the field and would continue to advance and expand in time as a perpetual project rather than start out as an established undertaking.

Mr. Beebe is known to many persons in this area as a falconer, and in addition he has appeared on local TV with small, live animals, which he describes

Hit-Run Trial Under Way In City Court

Identification Expert Testifies

Trial of Frederick Parkinson, 906 Admirals, on a charge of failing to remain at the scene of a fatal traffic accident at Craigflower and Raynor Dec. 15, opened in city police court today.

The trial was adjourned until Friday after three witnesses were heard. It was indicated the hearing will take some time to complete.

Parkinson is alleged to have been the driver of a truck which struck and killed Clement S. Gibbs, 72, as he was crossing the street.

AT HOME

Const. Roy Foster testified that a one-ton truck with damage on the grill was located not long after the accident in the driveway of Parkinson's home.

In a statement to police before the charge was laid, Parkinson said he had been driving the truck during the evening but had not been on Craigflower or involved in any accident.

Sgt. John H. S. P. Jones of the RCMP Identification Branch also gave evidence and submitted a number of photographs as evidence.

Sgt. Jones said pieces of a plastic eyeglasses frame found at the accident scene matched a frame previously stated as being found in the back of the open-deck truck.

Comparisons of impressions found on the bumper and hood of the truck with clothing worn by the victim also showed similarities, Sgt. Jones said.

Thomas Wallace, 651 Pine, testified that he followed Gibbs off a bus at the intersection just before the accident.

He said he saw the victim walk around behind the bus and start out across the street. Then he heard a "bump" and saw Gibbs' body rolling off the side of a truck.

Roses and Lilacs in Bloom!
Is It Wishful Thinking?

By PENNY SAVER

It can be June in January in Victoria, in fact, right in your own home!

Spring flowers, freshly cut, are on sale in town, so your tables can be a blaze with daffodils, but for the beauty of summer, there are gorgeous tea roses, long stemmed, that are imported from Italy. These artificial roses are waxed for long life, and look so real that it takes close inspection to discover that they aren't. There are also white roses, with the attractive long stems. Each bloom costs $1.

Lilac, white or mauve, comes in graceful sprays that, like the roses, are so life-like one almost expects the haunting lilac fragrance to be present too. Each spray costs $1.25.

You collectors of Limoges china miniatures, imported from France, will be pleased to hear that a small local store has a wonderful new shipment of these pieces. As well as the diminutive plates that can be displayed, there are jugs, coffee pots, candlesticks, chairs, tables, buffets, pianos, clocks and cribs, all patterned with the delicate scenes. The prices range from 75 cents for a chair to $1.49 for a plate made into a tin. There's a tea set, complete with two cups and saucers, sugar and cream jugs, teapot and tray for $6.

Another Limoges piece I saw is a real antique. It's a wee demitasse cup (the type on tiny legs) and saucer. A lovely gift for someone who likes and appreciates good china. This is $3.95.

In my wanderings around town I also saw golden china cups and saucers that look so rich and smart that I found myself trying to think of someone to whom I could give one. The regular coffee or demitasse size, these china cups are in the metallic gold color. If you know someone with a golden anniversary in the offing, this would be a very appropriate and thoughtful gift.

Wide-mouth jars in easily stacked square shape are the answer! That's what I found, large square jars that will hold almost any type of food. As well as being handy and practical for keeping your shelves neat, these jars keep the food clean and fresh. Each jar costs 45 cents. When you think of what you can save through proper storing of food, this isn't very much to pay.

If you're interested in any of the articles mentioned here in the shopping column, call me at 2-3131 and I'll be glad to give you the names of the stores where I saw them.

WHY

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

We cannot live vibrantly and feel strongly and think and worry and simply be human without experiencing some wear and tear, without having the years take some toll of our youthful appearance. However, today it is possible for a woman to remain youthful much longer than it once was.

Today we know so much more about nutrition, about the value of exercise and the dangers of overweight and unhappy emotional attitudes that we can delay the age of deterioration surprisingly. Add to that modern tricks of make-up, hairstyling and figure molding and we are coming close to a fountain of youth.

Any woman can have good looks if she is willing to work for it. Any woman is attractive who has a well-proportioned figure, graceful posture, a clear skin, well cared for hair and aliveness and warmth. With all the knowledge available today, it seems too bad not to take advantage of it. In order to help you do so I bring you my Eight-Week Self-Improvement Marathon once each year.

LAST MINUTE DIRECTIONS

Here are a few last minute directions for the thousands of you who are writing in. Please follow the directions about both exercise and diet. Plan your meals carefully, including the elements necessary for health each day. Please do not become so enthusiastic about your exercise that you overdo. Exercise should leave you feeling refreshed rather than tired. This is a mistake many women make. This is not only bad for you but it leaves you with such sore muscles that you are almost sure to give up.

You are certain to experience some soreness even when you start in slowly and work up gradually, but this soon will pass. Even if your muscles are stiff, do a little exercise each day. Otherwise you will have to start all over and go through it again.

If you want to join my Eight-Week Self-Improvement Marathon send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Marathon booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

are inadequate both in quality and in quantity of their graduates. Prejudice exists, and the majority of nursing students are girls from the poorer families with not more than four years of primary education.

All reports have agreed on the principle that improvement in nursing must come from within the country itself. Miss Green explained, and that the first requirement is a nucleus of potential nursing leaders, girls of better social and educational background with adequate professional preparation, who can assist in establishing better standards of nursing service, and prepare for supervisory, administrative and teaching functions in nursing.

ALL FIELDS OF NURSING

The university school was established as the Higher Institute of Nursing, a four-year degree program in the University of Alexandria, with provision for admission of students from other Arab countries of the region. The curriculum was planned as comprehensive preparation for all fields of nursing.

According to the agreement, World Health Organization provided international nurse educators, teaching equipment and books, and fellowships both for regional students attending the institute and for qualified Egyptian nurses recommended for post-basic study abroad. The government of Egypt provided buildings, furnishings, local staff, administrative and maintenance and transportation costs, and (when available) an Egyptian nurse counterpart for each member of the international staff. The first class of students was admitted in October, 1955.

It is a long-term project, the speaker pointed out. Results cannot be accurately evaluated for some years. "Many of the initial difficulties have been overcome; and there is an increase in public interest and in public comprehension which provides a hope that this may be the needed step for advancement of nursing in the Middle East."

Couple Piped From Church
To 'Highland Wedding' Tune

Mr. and Mrs. John Robert Hudson left Fairfield United Church following their wedding to the bagpipes' skirl of "Highland Wedding" played by piper Frank Knight.

Rev. Thomas Haythorne had performed the ceremony which united Minnie Evelyn Murdoch, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Murdoch, with the son of Mr. F. Hudson, England. The church was decorated with white chrysanthemums and the bride entered on the arm of her brother, J. W. Murdoch. She wore a full length gown of Mediterranean blue net over taffeta with lace applique on the bodice. Pink roses formed her cascade bouquet.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Neil Murdoch, who wore a gown of pink lace with folds of taffeta outlining the Empire waistline and forming a large bow at centre back. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations.

Kline Gervais was best man and Pat Gillingham, the usher. At a reception in the Glen-shiel Hotel, toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Gervais. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Lorne Murdoch, Regina, Sask., and Mrs. J. Wilcock, New Westminster, aunts of the bride. The newlyweds left for a honeymoon trip to Seattle.

Guild Helps
Building Fund

Reports read at the annual meeting of the Guild of the Church of St. George the Martyr showed that a total sum of $2,917 was realized during the year, and of this amount, $1,600 was given to the church building fund.

Two wrought iron screens were installed in the church and new equipment was bought for the church hall. Over a 10-year period the guild has raised a total of $19,364.23, and of this total, $11,883.13 has gone toward the building of the church.

Approximately 250 pounds of new and used clothing has been shipped to the Diocese of Caledonia during the year. The annual flower show, bazaar and garden party and the holy project were the main fund-raising events.

Executive for the coming year are Mrs. C. H. Rennie, president; Mrs. C. Clark, vice-president; Mrs. R. B. Howland, secretary; Mrs. G. Stewart, treasurer; and Mrs. H. V. Hummel, executive officer.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

About a house-warming:

Some friends of ours who recently moved to a new house invited us and five other couples for an informal evening gathering. I noticed that two of the couples brought gifts, and I am humiliated. I feel that I should send them something right away, but first want your advice. If you think I should, what kind of gift would you suggest? There had been no indication that these friends were giving a house-warming or I would have taken something.

Louise Davis answers: The first thing for you to do is to banish your humiliation. There is no reason why you should have felt obligated to take your friends a gift. As you noticed you were not the only ones who went empty handed. Banish the idea of getting something now because you would then embarrass your friends, who might think you are trying to rectify an oversight and you would be making matters worse.

Of course, you will be going to their house again, and at that time, even if it is an im-promptly social call, you can take a gift if you like. However there is no obligation. In the meantime, should you invite these friends to your house for an evening, you can hand them a gift as they are departing, saying casually "This is just a little something for your new home."

"That idea is not a must, either, but it would be nice providing you really would like to do it."

Suggestions for a gift are unlimited. Having seen the house, you should have a better idea than I. These items might give you some idea: Finger-tip towels, bon-bon dish, tray, plant container, jelly jar, ceramic bowl.

Cecile Clayton Wears Ivory Satin For Wedding to Bruce Baird, RCMP

Golden yellow and white chrysanthemums in tall baskets decorated St. John's Anglican Church, Saturday evening, for the ceremony which united in marriage Kathryn Elizabeth Cecile Clayton and Bruce Douglas Baird, RCMP.

Given in marriage by her father, Dr. Cecil John Clayton, 2720 Beach Drive, the charming bride wore a gown of ivory satin brocade, its circular skirt flaring to full length, from a dropped waistline. The shaped bodice was styled with rounded neckline, off shoulder. The bride's fingertip veil was of net illusion and she carried a bouquet of gardenias, gold roses and trailing ivy in cascade design.

A trio of attendants were identically gowned in velvet of deep turquoise hue, styled with full, ankle-length circular skirts and oval necklines. They wore dainty mitts to match their gowns.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Charles J. Clayton, carried a bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums and bridesmaids, Misses Joan Baird and Gail Champion, carried bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums.

The groom, son of Lt.-Col. and Mrs. James Douglas Baird, 2066 Marne Street, had Brian Hickman as his best man. Ushering guests to pews marked by chrysanthemums were the bride's brother, Dr. Charles J. Clayton and Ross Noel.

Traditional wedding music was played and soloist, Mrs. Peggy Walton Packard, sang "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register. Canon George Biddle performed the ceremony.

Reception was held at the home of the bride's father, 2720 Beach Drive, where the newlyweds cut a wedding cake which was flanked by tall candles and bronze and yellow flowers and centred a table covered with a Tuscan lace cloth.

Dr. John Calvin Foote proposed the toast to the bride.

Receiving guests were Miss Charlotte Clayton, aunt of the bride, who wore a silk dress of turquoise and gold with turquoise hat and yellow roses, en corsage, and mother of the groom, who wore a black sheath dress embroidered in white, with white accessories.

For a honeymoon in the United States, the bride donned a blue tweed dressmaker suit with matching hat, navy accessories and full-length muskrat fur coat. Her corsage was a gardenia.

Mr. and Mrs. Baird will live at 29 Dunlop Street, Yorkton, Sask.

At annual meeting of the St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary, the treasurer, Mrs. J. Gillis, reported that proceeds from the annual bazaar would be used to purchase a case room table for the maternity ward as well as other equipment and that the $1,000 received from a bakery contest will be used to purchase an ice making machine.

A donation had also been sent to the Essondale Auxiliary. Retiring president, Mrs. Peter Sallaway, was in the chair, and in her report reviewed activities of the past year and thanked members for their work and support.

Report of the secretary, Mrs. B. Reid, told of the re-organization of the auxiliary during the past year with members of the TB Villa Auxiliary joining the group. Teas, a linen shower and a fashion show were among money-making projects, Mrs. Reid said. She also spoke of the mobile cart, a new project that was giving much service to patients.

Other reports were given by Mrs. C. Lowman, clothing depot; Miss M. King, baby layettes; Mrs. C. Rose, sick visiting.

As chairman of nominations, Mrs. Reid conducted the election with the following results: Mrs. Rose, president; Mrs. D. Revell, first vice-president; Mrs. C. Day, second; Mrs. J. Ryan, secretary; Mrs. J. Gillis, treasurer; Mrs. O. Davis, Miss King and Mrs. M. Butler, councillors.

The honorary president is Mrs. Frank Mackenzie Ross. Following the election Mrs. E. Dixon, president, presented Mrs. Sallaway with a gift.

Plans were made for the annual bridge and silver tea on Feb. 13 in the Nurses' Home, with Mrs. A. Johnson, the convener, assisted by Miss King. Mrs. Butler was named convenor of the mobile cart and date of the next meeting was set one week earlier than usual on Feb. 6.

Low-Cost Hydro Wanted by BCPC

Larger Low-Cost Power Source Said Needed to Keep Rates Down

KAMLOOPS—The B.C. Power Commission, faced with a four-fold increase in demand for electric power within the next decade, must develop a "much larger source of low-cost power" in order to keep its rates down.

C. W. Nash, director of load production for the government-owned production, said this today before the Kamloops and District Board of Trade.

The remarks were contained in a copy of the speech released to the press before delivery.

"We must graduate from the piecemeal addition of relatively small-scale generating plants to an orderly scheme of large-scale development to make best use of our natural resources," Mr. Nash said.

A mighty tug-of-war between public and private power for the hydro potential of the province's unharnessed rivers—the Columbia and Fraser-Thompson —has been predicted, but Mr. Nash steered around this dispute.

"I am not at this time suggesting how, when or by whom these future power projects will be financed or developed."

"Each one, probably starting with Mica Creek, will be developed by some authority at the appropriate time, but it is out of my field to suggest how they will be financed and built."

"I am personally concerned, however, that the result is in the best public interest... and the availability of power at the lowest possible cost is ensured to all parts of the province."

B.C.-Wide Transmission Grid

Mr. Nash predicted that eventually all areas of the province will be connected to a transmission line grid and power pool.

Power at low and competitive prices will be a key factor in spreading the industrial growth of B.C., he said.

"Low-cost power will help to stabilize our economy by encouraging a diversification of industries and to correct the unbalance caused by the present concentration in comparatively very small areas of the province."

B.C. so far has "little more than scratched the surface" in its hunt for mineral wealth and new discoveries, coupled with adequate low-cost power, will step up secondary manufacture of goods within the country.

Nuclear power is not likely to prove more economical than hydro power for many years to come, Mr. Nash said.

"As long as power can be produced at the hydro generating plant to a reasonable estimate of 3 mills per kilowatt hour, it is sensible to consider nuclear power which is expected to cost a minimum of about twice as much as hydro 20 years from now."

Mr. Nash traced the background of the present dispute between the U.S. and Canada over development of the Columbia, and said:

"It is now up to Ottawa and Washington to go beyond the International Joint Commission, to go beyond established legal precedents and find a formula to which both Canada and the U.S. can work in developing the full possible use of our great natural and national resources."

The U.S. has "firmly established" the legal position which precludes its claim on any downstream benefits from storage works in Canada from being taken for granted, Mr. Nash said.

Recreation Centre For Aged Proposed

Need for a downtown recreation centre where elderly citizens could congregate was underlined today by Glen Hamilton, head of the Community Chest Silver Threads service.

"The centre would be a logical project as a centennial memorial in the city," he said.

"After all, many of our senior citizens pioneered in this area."

Mr. Hamilton suggested a centre similar to one in Calgary, which is dedicated to the city's pioneers and features lounges, organized activities, and rooms for games of cards, checkers, arts and crafts and TV-viewing.

FEEL AT HOME
The centre should be staffed by someone who would plan activities and make the elderly people feel at home, he said.

At present, Victoria has a Citizens' Recreation Room for men next to the city market, a Women's Welcome Room behind the bus depot, and a Pastime Centre for both sexes at the Oak Bay Junction.

The Silver Threads organization will consider making a study of recreation services for senior citizens here, Mr. Hamilton said.

Question of recreation was discussed at a meeting of the Community Welfare Council in Spencerhouse last week.

HOUSING NEEDS
Also considered was a survey of the housing desires of senior citizens in Greater Victoria.

"We haven't got a clear idea of what kind of housing is really needed in Victoria," Mr. Hamilton explained. "Perhaps it would be possible to get a master's student at UBC to do a survey."

Since December Silver Threads has received 124 applications for transportation, housing, employment, visits, house-keeping and financial aid, he said.

The office had a list of 22 volunteer drivers and visitors and 15 part-time housekeepers. New directors of Silver Threads, soon to become the 20th Community Chest agency here, are Dr. Henrietta Anderson.

British Labor Party Chiefs Split on Ike's Mid-East Plan

A division of opinion over President Eisenhower's force-peace plan for the Middle East has developed among leaders of Britain's Labor Party.

In London Aneurin Bevan came out in open criticism of Ike's proposals while in a television interview in Washington Hugh Gaitskell, leader of the party, termed Ike's plan "a step in the right direction."

Writing in London's left-wing Reynolds News, Bevan attacked the Eisenhower Middle East doctrine as "calculated to plunge the world into the nightmare of final war."

He also charged that the president's plan will undermine the authority of the United Nations.

The peppy Welshman, the Labor opposition's chief spokesman on foreign affairs, said the Eisenhower Doctrine, as revealed to Congress on Jan. 5, would make United States military intervention in the area subject to approval by the UN Security Council "after—mark this, after—it had started."

Bevan also took issue with the doctrine on the ground that "it creates a new type of aggressor... a nation alleged to be acting under the 'control of international Communism.'"

Bevan predicted that if American force was used against a nation so defined, Russia would use her veto in the Security Council and possibly to go to the defence of the aggressor.

"I can think of nothing more calculated to plunge the world into the nightmare of a final war," Bevan wrote.

Almost simultaneously, Bevan's party leader, Hugh Gaitskell, said in a television interview at Washington, D.C., that Eisenhower's Middle East doctrine is "a step in the right direction."

He praised it as a more seeming to indicate "a more positive" American role in the Middle East.

Gaitskell urged that the United Nations create a larger police force to patrol all of Israel's borders. He said this could be taken as an immediate step to ease dangerous Middle Eastern tensions.

He said it would be "a wonderful thing" if the United States took the lead in persuading the UN General Assembly to build up such an international police force.

He suggested that the UN force also should occupy the Israeli-held Gaza Strip and part of the Sinai Peninsula "right down to the Gulf of Aqaba."

The visiting British leader said such a police force was urgently needed because he believed passions in the Middle East still are at too dangerous a peak to give any real hope of an immediate over-all settlement of problems in the area.

Unless you face these facts about FALSE TEETH —you may be in trouble!

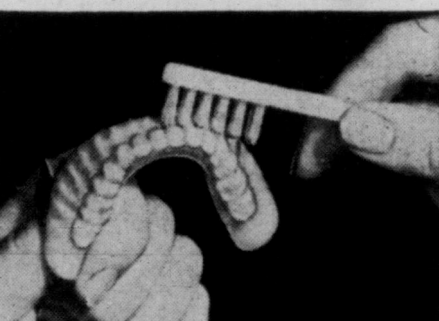

If you are one of the many false teeth wearers who is not getting ALL the comfort and pleasure to which you are entitled—this is written for you!

Your denture is an important investment. It's important to your health and, yes, your happiness. Yet so many people who wear a plate or removable bridge just refuse to face the fact that it can't be treated like natural teeth!

You just cannot brush your plate or bridge with cleansers like toothpaste or powder (some people even use soap) and expect to keep yourself free from Denture Breath. And, that's one of life's little tragedies—when you unknowingly offend the people closest to you. Another hard fact about dentures is this: The plate material isn't as hard as it looks! In fact, with daily brushing you can wear the fit right off your plate.

And, you don't want to pay for another new denture right away, do you? You and you alone pay the price of possible pain, expense, and unnecessary social problems when you clean your false teeth the wrong way!

So, isn't it time you gave up old-fashioned, ineffective cleansing—brushing of your dentures? Do what more dentists recommend—use Polident, the revolutionary cleanser. Polident actually dissolves away film, stain, tartar, odor—WITHOUT brushing! With Polident it's a soak... a rinse... a clean, fresh mouth! Remember... your investment in your denture is worth protecting with Polident!

Incorrect Cleaning Can Mean Tragic Tissue Changes! Why?
Because food particles and bacteria, growing close to living tissue, can produce changes in it which can mean the expense of a whole new plate! One gentle soaking in Polident purifies plates, keeps away trouble-making stains, tartar, food deposits.

Brushing Makes Scratches Which Trap Odors, Food Particles!
Your plate material is 60 times softer than natural teeth. Hence, more dentists recommend Polident—the ideal cleanser—because it swiftly, safely removes food and stains without scratching or harming plate material. Polident purifies your plate—makes it feel, taste, look good!

Your Smile Is Spoiled If Your False Teeth Are Dingy, Yellow!
Why suffer from unattractive, old-looking teeth? Keep them sparkling-bright with all their original natural look. One quick soak in Polident dissolves that tough, dingy film—keep your teeth odorless—clean—attractive!

Full Dentures or Partial Plates — You are Scientifically SAFE with Polident's 15 Minutes a Day Soaking!
That's why MORE dentists recommend Polident than any other denture cleanser in America! Buy Polident... the world's largest selling denture cleanser... at any drug store—43¢ and 79¢.

NO!

KITCHEN CLEANER
TOOTH PASTE
TOILET SOAP

You Cannot Really Clean False Teeth The Old Way. That tough, almost invisible film which collects on your plates is a nest for impurities! Household cleansers ruin plates. A brush cannot reach all danger spots!

YES!

Polident Works Like Magic... Cleans Plates To New Beauty! No harmful, bothersome brushing—a soak—a rinse—a clean, fresh mouth—No Denture Breath! Small wonder Polident is the world's largest selling denture cleanser!

About Birthdays

The standard method of writing about any single subject is to refresh what the encyclopedia says. In our customary pursuit of the most results for the least work, we looked up "Birthdays" and were foiled. Nothing, but nothing, about birthdays. Birthdays, now—that's different. Did you know that in Africa, people call their children "Grub" or "Flit" so that the evil spirits won't notice them? And other children are named after notable events at the time of their birth, so you come across infants called "Plague" or "Pestilence." Just like home, eh? But we digress; Birthdays, now, the word "birthday" conjures up either "gift" or "party" in one's mind. Gift—at EATON'S we've got lots. Whether the owner of the birthday is just coming round to 39 for the third time, or is toothlessly celebrating No. 1 by trying to eat the candle off the cake—we've got the right gifts. You'll find one or two shown alongside this column—and for those who have you completely flummoxed, how about a subscription to the EATON library (1.50 a month) or a Gift Certificate (any denomination) from the Cheque Cashing Desk, 3rd floor?

Associated with gifts is, of course, wrapping. EATON'S offers two ways to settle this little problem. You can browse 'round the Stationery Department on the Main Floor and pick up just the right paper and ribbon from the shelves—for example a gay affair of circus seals doing tricks for the younger set, a diaper theme for the even younger or an abstract pattern in yellow, gold and black for the somewhat sophisticated. Then you, sally home and give your creative instincts full rein—and if you're the type, a beautiful wrapping job results. What if you're not the type, however. What if, like the mass of mortal men, the mere sight of a skein of ribbon turns all your fingers into thumbs, and Scotch tape only sticks where you don't want it to? Settle the problem the second way—a quick trip to the Second Floor with the gift in your hand, a brief discussion with the expert in the Gift Wrapping Section—that's all! For a modest fee your gift will be beautifully wrapped—and men, this service is confidential—if you want to pretend it's all your own work, we won't talk!

What's next on the birthday list but cards. Of greeting cards various, EATON'S has 1,400, all different, on the Main Floor. Broken down into various types, we found that there are a mere 779 different birthday cards for you to choose from. There are cards for specific ages (we couldn't find one for anyone coming round to 39 for the third time—but there's one that can be set for almost any age from 16 to 85!) Cards for every relative from husbands to sisters-in-law. Couldn't find one for mother-in-law—either the mothers-in-law union should take this up, or we should look harder. If you've just remembered someone and it's already too late, we counted 30 different belated birthday greetings. Yes, we said THIRTY!

So—the gift is wrapped, the card is written. What next—the party, of course. And EATON'S has a Party Shop, as you may know, devoted to the proposition that parties should be fun. Party hats—for sure, in sizes to suit midgets or monsters, including a classy fez for (presumably) junior Shriners. Balloons, not just plain round, but long and wiggly, cat's heads complete with ears, and how suitable, one type which has "Happy Birthday" printed right on it. For harassed mothers (and others) who wonder how to keep the tablecloth in reasonable shape, there are paper tablecloths and napkins, all birthday sentiments inscribed thereon.

While in the Party Shop we noticed the cake decorations. No need to sigh for a professional cake decorator when all you need do is pop these noble creations on your newly frosted cake. Each set contains candles, candle-holders, various minor decorations and the words "Happy Birthday," all edible too (bar the candles, unless you happen to have a dash of Eskimo blood). Do we see a tired smile back there in the third row? Do we hear "Decorations fine, but the real work is in the baking, and the sandwich-making." Then take heart, for even this problem can be solved at EATON'S. Just visit the Hostess Shop on the Main Floor and let someone else do the worrying, and the work! Whether the party is for child or adult, the catering experts there will supply everything needed in the food line—and deliver it where and when required. With EATON'S help, it can't help but be a Happy Birthday—both for the celebrant and everyone else!

SCREEN'S TOUGH GUY HUMPHREY BOGART DIES

HOLLYWOOD — The tumultuous life of screen idol Humphrey Bogart ended quietly today at 2:10 a.m.

One of Hollywood's dominating personalities, Bogart died in his sleep, of throat cancer.

He had been in a coma since Sunday morning. His fourth wife, actress Lauren Bacall, was at the bedside when, according to attending physicians, Bogart "took a deep breath, and died."

The two children of their 1945 marriage — Stephen, born in 1949, and Leslie, born in 1952 — were asleep in a nearby room.

Bogart became a screen star on the strength of his role in "The Petrified Forest" in 1932. He won an Academy Award for "The African Queen."

He muscled into a field dominated by Paul Muni, Edward G. Robinson and James Cagney to become a tough guy in Warner Bros. pictures of the 30's. (See also Page 7.)

Russ Urge Full-Scale Arms Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The United States today called for United Nations action on a new five-point disarmament plan which would place international controls on space missiles and on future stockpiling of nuclear weapons.

Russia replied by proposing a special session of the 80-nation General Assembly to be devoted exclusively to the disarmament problem.

At the same time, Soviet deputy foreign minister Vassily V. Kuznetsov blasted the "Eisenhower doctrine" for the Middle East as interference in the affairs of the Arab nations and an aggravating factor in the international situation. (See also pages 2 and 20.)

'Smear' Cries U.S. Delegate

Lodge called his remarks a "smear on the United States, irrelevant and impertinent."

Kuznetsov repeated the disarmament proposals made recently by Premier Bulganin and declared they offered a sound basis for agreement. These proposals included an agreement to institute an aerial inspection system in a central European zone extending 500 miles each side of the Iron Curtain.

The Soviet delegate also formally proposed an immediate ban on future nuclear test explosions.

The new U.S. disarmament proposals would go into effect, Lodge stressed, only after an iron-clad system of controls and inspections had been established to guard against violations or evasions.

Pearson Urges UNEF Patrol Israel Border

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson today suggested that the United Nations Emergency Force patrol all Israel-Arab borders and that it be placed on a more permanent basis.

He told the Commons that the Canadian government in recent weeks has been discussing with friendly governments methods of achieving a Middle East settlement.

Pilot Boat Missing; Seven Aboard

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)—An 85-foot harbor pilot boat was listed as missing today a few hours after a collision was reported in the Bay of Fundy.

The missing boat was believed to be carrying seven men—three pilots, two seamen, an engineer and a cook.

Searchers found debris floating off the coast at Miscap and a marker buoy was dropped, indicating further investigation was planned.

The other ship involved was the 3,444-ton freighter Fort Avalon, the ship that found the wreckage.

Surface ships and an RCAF plane joined in the hunt.

Major points of the proposal were:

1. That an agreement be reached under which all future production of fissionable materials shall be stockpiled exclusively for non-weapons purposes under international inspection.

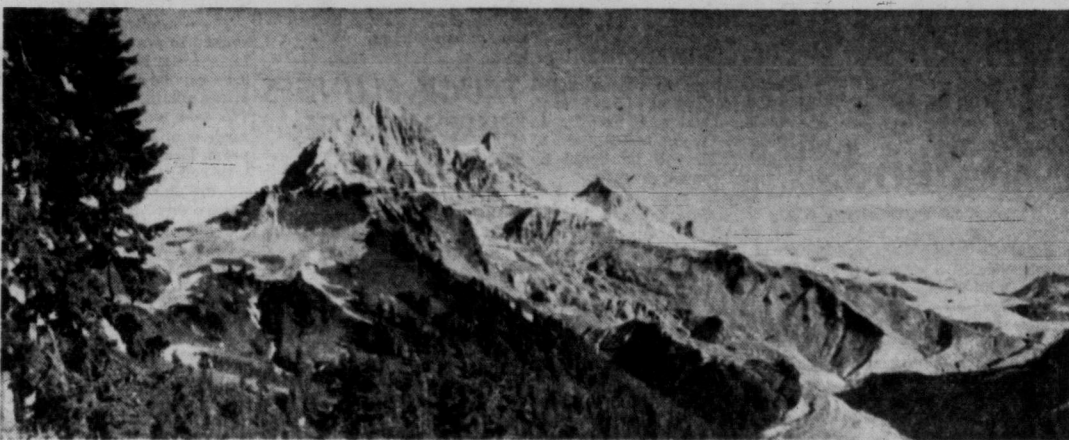

2. That nuclear test explosions be limited and later banned, if an agreement is reached to control the stockpiling of fissionable materials. Pending such an agreement, the United States would be willing to work out a system for advance notice and limited international observation of such tests.

3. That the armed forces of the United States and the Soviet Union be limited to 2,500,000 each and those of Britain and France to 750,000 each. If the nations concerned can agree on progressive establishment of an inspection system. This would include aerial inspection, as proposed by President Eisenhower at the summit meeting, and ground inspection at key points, as proposed by Premier Bulganin.

4. That the testing of all space missiles, including earth satellites and space platforms, be placed under international control to make sure that their future development is limited to peaceful purposes.

5. That an international inspection and control system be installed progressively to guard against surprise attacks. This would be supervised by an international agency which would be established concurrently with the beginning of the program.

Two Jet-Crash Survivors Sighted by Rescue Teams

WHERE JETS COLLIDED AND CRASHED

Mid-air collision of two Vancouver-based RCAF training jets occurred near Garibaldi Mountain, shown here on the mainland, 120 miles north of Victoria. Planes were flying in formation.

Pair Still Missing —Planes Collided

SQUAMISH, B.C. (CP)—Two survivors of a mid-air crash between two T-33 jet trainers Sunday afternoon were located today by RCAF search planes in mountainous terrain 17 miles northeast of here.

Four men were aboard the two planes.

RCAF officials said a para-rescue team of two had been dropped in the vicinity where two fires had been burning through the night but the team was unable to reach the survivors, seen from the air.

A Piasecki helicopter, after picking up the rescue team, left this coast village 40 miles north of Vancouver, in an attempt to land near the survivors.

Officials said it was impossible to say at this time who the survivors were but released the names of three of the four Vancouver airmen aboard the jets when they collided and exploded.

They are:
Flight Lieut. Burton Patkau, 27, pilot; FO Roderick Atkins, 19, a passenger, and FO Bernard McCormack, 21, a TCA pilot, also a passenger.

Next of kin of the fourth airman are believed to be in England and have not yet been notified, said the RCAF.

All were members of 421 Auxiliary (Reserve) Squadron based at Sea Island, near Vancouver.

Two fires were spotted by air searchers Sunday night in the vicinity where the jets collided and exploded in a ball of flame and smoke.

No Oil Price Hike in Canada, Declares Howe

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe said today the oil situation in the Suez area will have "no bearing" on oil prices in Canada.

He was replying in the Commons to Colin Cameron (CCF, Nanaimo), who asked whether the government is taking action to ensure oil companies don't use the fact oil shipments from the Suez have been cut off as an excuse to raise their prices in Canada.

Mr. Howe said eastern Canada gets most of its oil from Venezuela and the United States. Only a small amount came through the Suez Canal, still blocked by sunken shipping.

KHRUSHCHEV NEW PREMIER OF SOVIET?

WARSAW (AP)—Polish Communist circles buzzed today with rumors that Nikita Khrushchev may soon become Soviet premier and that Georgi Malenkov will take his place as first secretary of the Communist party.

The reports said the present premier, Nikolai Bulganin, would retire from public life. Communist sources here felt that if the changes in the Soviet hierarchy do come about they will not mean a return to Stalinism, despite Malenkov's long association with the Soviet dictator.

In fact, they said, Malenkov was responsible for much of the softening of Soviet foreign and domestic policy during his term as Soviet premier.

MEDICAL MURDER?

Widow Enslaved As Drug Addict Yard Charges

EASTBOURNE, England (AP)—Dr. John Bodkin Adams was accused today of enslaving a wealthy 81-year-old widow by turning her into a drug addict, then killing her with overdoses after she changed her will in his favor.

The prosecution outlined its case against the 37-year-old bachelor physician at a hearing in this seaside resort where many old people come to spend their last days. Scotland Yard Superintendent Herbert Hannam built up the case after painstaking study of the will of 400 rich Eastbourne residents.

Prosecutor Melford Stevenson suggested the defence may take the line that the doctor merely

Followed Parachutes to Earth

An RCAF pilot, Wing Cmdr. Barker, who witnessed the collision from a Harvard trainer overhead, said he saw two men bail out.

However, Billy Swann, 15, and Doug Barnfield, 12, both of Squamish, said they saw three parachutes. Billy told, with young Barnfield verifying his account, of seeing the planes collide in flames under a clear sky.

"We saw three parachutes after that," he said. "Two were together and the other one was alone to the north."

After the collision, he said, the sky was blackened with smoke, a long finger of which dipped earthward in the path the planes followed in crashing.

One report said the planes were flying in formation with two other aircraft when they collided.

The crash occurred in a valley of the coast range, in the general vicinity of Garibaldi Mountain, which rises to about 5,000 feet.

Wing Cmdr. Barker said he watched two parachutes land in dense brush. He said there was a man below each parachute.

"I could see the men clearly, although I didn't want to go too close and chance spilling the air out of their chutes. One man was hanging onto the straps of his parachute."

Although he did not see the collision, Wing Cmdr. Barker judged it to be at the 15,000 or 20,000-foot level.

"Without warning, there was a puff of smoke and a flash—a big flash. Then the air was full of wreckage that looked just like flak."

"I followed the largest piece of wreckage down. It was falling fast, but it took about five minutes."

"I didn't know two planes were involved until I got back to the base and heard that two were missing."

A ground search party which left here earlier was reported converging on the area holding the two survivors.

An RCAF pilot said after seeing the men waving that he thought they were about 500 feet apart, on the 2,000-foot level of a mountain ridge.

Wreckage of One Plane Found

Wreckage of one of the planes was found 16 miles north of here in bush beside the Pacific Great Eastern Railway tracks. There was no word of survivors at the crash scene.

Squamish is at the head of Howe Sound, about 40 miles north of Vancouver. The planes which collided, commonly known as Shooting Stars, belonged to the 442 City of Vancouver Auxiliary Squadron based at Sea Island.

Throughout the night, after the fires were sighted near Lizzie Lake, about 15 miles northwest of here, an RCAF Dakota kept circling the mountainous area to keep track of the signals.

In another direction, ground searchers reported seeing a flare from a Very pistol. RCAF officials confirmed Very pistols are part of survival equipment of jet pilots.

Ground parties were assisted by PGE dispatchers and train crews, who used microwave radio equipment to co-ordinate the search.

Aboard one of the RCAF planes which took part in the hunt was Sqdn. Ldr. George Sheahan of Ottawa, who supervised the fruitless search for a Trans-Canada Air Lines North Star which disappeared near Hope, B.C., Dec. 9 with 62 persons aboard.

V.I. Logger Committed To Trial for Murder

Special to The Times

DUNCAN — Thomas Sidney Symes, 31-year-old logger, today was committed for trial in a higher court on a charge of murdering Paul Richard Powling, 25, early New Year's Day.

The accused was committed throughout the preliminary hearing on the charge, held before Magistrate A.C. Sutton. He will appear in Spring Assize Court.

Chief witness of the 10 who appeared during the morning hearing was Henry Van Vonkeman, who described a visit paid to him by Symes "sometime between 5 and 6 a.m." on New Year's Day.

Symes had a 30-30 rifle with him, with cartridges in the magazine. Symes also carried an empty cartridge case, he said.

Van Vonkeman said that after talking to Symes he persuaded him to go to the police. Powling, also a logger, had worked with Symes in various logging camps.

He was shot at about 5:45

a.m. New Year's Day in the room of Mrs. Ramona Symes, estranged wife of the accused, at a Herbert Street rooming house. Mrs. Symes, who was in the room when the shooting occurred, was in court today but was not on the witness stand.

Alistair I. Macdonald appeared for Symes, and Robert J. Harvey represented the Crown. Symes is being held at Oakalla Prison pending the trial.

U.K. Announces Talks to End Yemen Conflict

LONDON (AP)—Britain announced today preliminary discussions have started on ways to ending the desert fighting on the ill-defined borders between Yemen and Aden.

A foreign office spokesman said the government of Aden was consulting tribal chieftains in the British protectorate on the possibility of expanded talks. The foreign office also has been in contact with the Yemeni charge d'affaires in London.

There has been sporadic fighting between Yemeni tribesmen, augmented by Yemeni regular troops, and British tribal forces of Aden, helped by RAF jet planes in the frontier area. The scene is at the southern end of the Red Sea on the Arabian peninsula.

Yemen contends the British have invaded Yemen while Britain insists the Yemenis have been crossing the border into Aden for years and are being driven out.

Licence Loss Faces Brokers In Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—The Star says at least six Toronto stock brokers may lose their licences as a result of investigations connected with prosecution of three men for stock manipulation.

The three, Henry Hoffberg, 39; Alfred Kitchener, 51, and Michael Konefat, 26, pleaded guilty last week to defrauding more than 50 brokers of $80,000. They were to be sentenced today by Chief Justice J. C. McRuer.

The Star says investigators digging into the maze of stock market records for evidence against the three turned up indications of practices frowned upon by Ontario Securities Commission. The malpractices included placing phoney stock orders to stimulate a market for low-price mining and oil shares. The paper quotes OSC chairman Col. O. E. Lennox: "We are going to . . . take necessary action."

Frigid Arctic Air Blankets All Canada

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadians shivered today in frigid Arctic air that spread almost from the east to west coast. There was little hope the bone-chilling temperatures would moderate in many areas by tonight.

(See page 11 for city and Island weather story.)

Bright, sunny skies over most provinces Sunday failed to offer

much comfort to those who ventured into the chilly air.

The weatherman had had news for Northern Ontario, predicting the cold wave would tighten its grip there. Sudbury recorded 32 degrees below zero Sunday night and Kapuskasing 31 below.

White River, known as the coldest place in Ontario, clung to its dubious honor with a Sunday reading of 53 degrees below.

In northern British Columbia it was even colder. At Prince George it hit a low of 40 below zero and Snag, Y.T., marked up 25 below.

With the price of milk likely to rise, we'll have to stop some of this drinking on the qt.

Armed V.I. Loggers Nab 2 Theft Suspects

PORT ALBERNI — An alert logger was responsible for the apprehension and arrest of two men Sunday afternoon at Sarita River logging camp on the Alberni Canal 30 miles southwest of here.

The two are held in jail here and face multiple charges of theft.

A. T. Kachasoski saw a boat moored at the wharf with what he suspected to be a stolen outboard motor on the deck.

He sought the help of T. J. Blower, personnel manager at the camp. They armed themselves with a rifle and a shotgun, awakened the two men on the boat, and held them until two RCMP constables arrived by air from here.

CRUISER WRECKED

They found that early last week a 32-foot cruiser was wrecked at Cape Beale, at the mouth of Barkley Sound and five miles from Bamfield. Two men aboard were taken to the Bamfield lifeboat station, and cared for by John Logvinoff of the station staff, for three days.

After they left it was noted clothing and other goods were missing. A boat also was missing from the village.

The cruiser totally wrecked at Cape Beale had been missing from Vancouver for about three weeks.

NEWS BRIEFS

Delegates from South Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association will attend the next meeting of city council welfare committee to discuss the controversial sink by-law. Council recently recommended a three-year delay in enforcing the by-law which would require a sink in every housekeeping unit. It is expected the association will ask the whole by-law be scrapped.

Victoria funeral directors have informed the city council in future the funeral costs for indigents will be $125 plus burial or cremation charges. This charge was $75 in the past. The letter informing of the increase was tabled by council parks committee today until discussions on the matter have been held with other municipalities in the area. The city pays all costs for funerals of indigents.

City welfare committee will ask city electrical engineer Kenneth Reid to examine wiring in the Old Men's Home. Complaints have been received of poor lighting, "and if you put on a toaster you blow a switch," said Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson.

IKE'S PLAN TO CRUMBLE — KHRUSHCHEV

LONDON (Reuters) — Nikita Khrushchev, Soviet Communist party chief, Sunday night launched a heated attack against the Eisenhower doctrine for the Middle East, predicting that it is doomed to crumble against the "granite rock" of the Soviet Union.

Tass news agency quoted him as telling a mass meeting in Tashkent that the Eisenhower plan was "aimed against the Soviet Union" but like the Truman doctrine it would fail.

Khrushchev charged that "the imperialists have raised a savage howl against the Soviet Union and the whole Socialist camp."

But, he added, that is understandable because the Western rulers "cannot reconcile themselves with the successful development of the Soviet Union and of all the Socialist countries."

Martin Fears Asians To Seek 'Short-Cuts'

By JOHN E. BIRD Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Health Minister Martin says unless democratic Asian countries are understood by the West, there is a danger of them attempting "authoritarian short-cuts on the road to modernization."

He also said in an interview following his arrival here Saturday night from a nine-week tour of South and Southeast Asia that the Commonwealth "is a mighty instrument for peace, not only in Asia but all the world."

Mr. Martin said there is an intense desire on the part of Asians to maintain independence and to preserve their historical traditions through democratic procedures.

But, he said, there are enormous physical problems to be overcome.

"There is a continuing risk that unless the Asian countries are understood by the West, some Asian countries which have begun to travel the way of democracy may be tempted to try what may appear to be authoritarian short-cuts on the road to modernization," the statement said.

Alderman Asks Rezoning For Showrooms

Application to rezone a 200 to 400 feet parcel of land fronting on Oak and Talmie, in Saanich, from residential to commercial, will be heard by Saanich council tonight.

Applicant is Millard H. Mooney, city alderman and proprietor of Mooney and Sons auto body shop, truck and farm equipment dealers.

Mr. Mooney said he hopes to be able to start re-location of his farm equipment dealership to his new property, just off Douglas Street, sometime this year.

A building with minimum requirements for the firm's needs would cost in the neighborhood of $300,000, Mr. Mooney estimated.

Property is located in a growing commercial and light industrial area. It was purchased in 1950 and Saanich council recommended rezoning to commercial use in 1951, but no by-law was drawn.

Land has been levelled and prepared for development for more than a year.

New Attempt For Tearoom In Beacon Hill

City council parks committee launched a new attempt today to introduce profit-making ventures in Beacon Hill Park.

The committee, headed by Ald. Geoffrey I. Edgewood, felt the new revenues would reduce costs of park maintenance for the taxpayers.

An interpretation of the deed of trust by which the city holds the park for the provincial government was that no commercial venture could legally be carried on there. This was endorsed by former city solicitor Arthur Patton.

Ald. E. D. McEwen told the committee he had checked the matter a year ago with the B.C. Attorney General's Department.

CAN DO IT

"I was told the city had every right to use the park as it liked, provided it didn't interfere with the rights of others."

The committee decided to ask council to press the government for specific instruction on what uses can be made of the park. Parks administrator W. H. Warren said parks-committees have made similar attempts for three years. Last year Ald. Don Smith was delegated to take the matter up at provincial level. No report was made.

The committee indicated a tea room would be the first experiment if approval was obtained. "We could make the park self-supporting, in future years," said Ald. Edgewood.

Mr. Mintz explained that the chief problem in meeting its power boost date is the weather.

Righteousness and Wrath

HOW dead dull the world would be, if we all thought alike.

And one way I'm not going to think is the way of two tracts put out by an organization that so loves to sell religion at the door. And one article in particular rouses all the rebel in me.

It disapproves of Christmas being held on Dec. 25. The wrong date, it says. Besides, Dec. 25 was the birthday of Nimrod, and Nimrod was a very wicked man.

Well, I can't see that the actual date of Christmas matters one way or another. If the early Christian hierarchy chose Dec. 25 in order to compete with other religious festivals of that time, then that's okay with me. It shows they had a sound grip on reality.

As to Nimrod's birthday being on Dec. 25, we don't have to think of Nimrod. In fact, I doubt whether one Canadian in a thousand has ever heard of him.

This same article disapproves of birthdays. Pagan, it says.

Well, I think birthdays are lovely. A birthday is an occasion when we can say to a friend, "I'm so glad you were born, and that I was lucky enough to know you." What's wrong in that?

It disapproves of giving presents. Well, I like giving something to someone I'm fond of or respect. Where does the wickedness come in?

It disapproves of decorating homes for Christmas.

I think it's a delightful custom. What could be more pleasant or more innocent than to decorate your home with greenery so that it will be a pretty sight for those who come to see you?

Ruth

It disapproves of holly. I love the sight of richly-berried holly in the dead of winter. How bright and beautiful it is. It cheers my heart to see it. Wicked old sinner that I am!

It disapproves of mistletoe. Pagan, it says, and goes on to speak of demonism and superstition and the Lord knows what else.

Well, I never was the type that gay young men longed to buss beneath the mistletoe. But it seems to me that it's lovely for a shy young girl to be suddenly kissed beneath the "Pagan branch." (By someone nice and suitable, that is. Not by leaping elderly satyr, over-full of gin and joie-de-vivre.) It's the sort of simple, natural surprise that is utterly delightful when one's young. It can wait one away on wings of happiness. I cannot think that it is wrong.

It also disapproves of myths and legends. In my books, many of the most famous myths and legends are really allegories which deal with eternal truths and teach highly moral lessons.

What, for instance, is the real meaning of the story about St. George and the Dragon? What of Beowulf and Grendel?

And the same holds good for many fairy stories. They're symbolical. And the older one grows, the more one realizes that they are vehicles for basic truths.

What about the Greek myth of Demeter and Persephone? It's not just a tale of "heavenly" gods and goddesses. It's a poetic and lovely story of the seasons.

Fortunately, this is a free country where we can all think as we choose.

But I'd rank compassion, joy and thankfulness way ahead of narrow righteousness and wrath. I'd choose the spirit of the New Testament rather than the letter of the Old.

How about it, Fundamentalists?

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Heartless Parties

LONDON—Parents here are worried about the latest development of "rock 'n' roll" parties. Teen-agers are buying phials of the drug amylnitrite prescribed by many doctors to alleviate heart trouble. Since it is not on the restricted list, the youngsters can get hold of it at any chemist shop. Taken with alcohol by a healthy young woman, she is made to feel drowsy and it creates a couldn't-care-less attitude.

At parties men bring out the phials of amylnitrite when the drinks are being served and breaking off the tops of them, get girls to inhale the drug. One doctor, describing the effects at what are now called "heartless parties," said the "girls who tried it were soon complaining about the heat and feeling sleepy, and what happened later is anybody's guess."

The Ministry of Health has at once decided to inquire into the misuse of the drug and it seems certain that it will go on the restricted list.

UNUSUAL JOB is that of James Blackburn, who is a "legal forger." He works for a firm which specializes in postal advertising. For business executives who like to have their personal signature on such letters that go out but haven't the time to sign them all, Blackburn does the signing.

It usually takes him only half an hour to master the "forgery" and he can then turn out signatures at a rate of a thousand an hour. Before he accepts each assignment, though, a document is drawn up giving him permission to become a forger—legally.

Which reminds me that the best bit of quick forging I ever saw was when I was interviewing a shady type who showed me how easily it can be done. Turn the signature you are forging upside down, he said, and copy what you see. Copying it that way, it is just a series of lines, not letters, and you don't give the show away by tending from habit to form the letters in your own way.

BRITAIN'S NUDISTS—the British Sunbathing Association claims 50,000 members—feel honored that they will be hosts in the coming summer to the annual World Congress of Nudists but they're finding it difficult to find a locale for the convention to which 17 nations will send delegates. The mayors of seaside resorts, always ready in the past to turn on civic welcomes for any convention that will mean business for the town, regard this one as a bit hot to handle.

SYNOPSIS — A disturbance moved southward over the prairies overnight and the trailing edge of the system brought some cloudiness to the interior of the province. At the same time a nearly stationary low-pressure area off the Oregon coast has given rain overnight to some parts of the Washington coast and a few clouds have spread northward to southwestern B.C. In general, cloudiness will decrease tonight and cold temperatures are again in prospect. Another intense core of cold air moving slowly southward from the Yukon allows little hope of an early break in the cold spell.

Up-Island Hit by New Snowfall But All Main Roads Kept Clear

Cloudy skies and the possibility of snow flurries late today will give way to clearing skies overnight and sunshine Tuesday for Victoria, weatherman William Mackie said today.

Up-Island points are not so lucky. Duncan reported one inch of new snow, and Nanaimo three inches.

All main roads are clear, however. Highways department crews reported slippery sections between Nanaimo and Port Alberni and Courtenay are being sanded.

Onset of cold weather overnight slowed thawing of snow in most sections.

Cassidy airport near Nanaimo reported 12 inches of snow on the ground, and Port Alberni reported clear skies today, snow still laying on the ground, streets slippery, and auto accidents numerous but all of a minor nature.

18 AT NANAIMO

Overnight low temperatures on the island were: Nanaimo, 18; Patricia Bay, 25; Comox, 17; Victoria, 30.

Mr. Mackie said Victoria's temperature will drop to 28 degrees overnight, and reach a maximum of 38 degrees Tuesday. Winds will be northerly at 20 miles per hour.

LINEMEN BUSY

In the Courtenay area, warm sunshine Sunday following the heavy snowstorm of last week, only increased the troubles of B.C. Power Commission and B.C. Telephone Co. work crews.

Melting snow on telephone lines caused short circuits, again isolating Comox Valley communities where lines had been restored.

Telephone officials said they did not expect to restore complete service to Courtenay and district until the end of the week.

Milk Workers Seek $30 Monthly Boost

Milk price increase of at least a cent a quart was seen here today following agreement on wage demands, by 160 truck drivers and plant employees of Victoria's three main dairies.

Milk Salesmen and Dairy Employees' Union, local 464, decided at a meeting Sunday to ask for a skip-a-day delivery plan and a $30 a month wage boost for drivers, plus an eight-hour day or overtime pay.

It is the same as an agreement signed last month by Vancouver's milk distributors. Distributors there immediately increased their milk prices by two cents a quart, making it 24 cents — Victoria's current price.

Drivers here would receive $300 a month, with commissions on top of this.

16% SAVING

The skip-a-day delivery plan, a union spokesman said, means a saving of about 16 per cent for the distributor in the number of drivers he must employ. Drivers deliver milk to homes once every two days, thus increasing loads per trip.

If distributors here agree to the plan, it would require several months to come into force. Distributors would reduce the number of drivers during this period by natural staff turn-overs rather than by lay-offs, he said.

Demands will be submitted "as soon as possible," the spokesman said.

Distributors affected are Palm Dairies Ltd., Northwest Creamery Ltd., and Island Farm Dairies Co-operative Association.

Wholesale trucks would still continue six-day delivery.

VICTORIA, B.C., MONDAY, JANUARY 14, 1957 11

Census Total Boosted 1,500

Ottawa census authorities have increased the official total population of Victoria by 1,500, following protests by city council.

Mayor Percy Scurrell says the increase is worth $48,750 to the city in B.C. per capita grants.

City manager C. C. Wyatt had earlier contested the count taken last May. He felt it was indicated by building figures, birth and death rates the city actually held 55,000 people.

3-Cat Limit Proposed For City

One resident will be limited to three cats if city council adopts recommendations received today from city parks administrator W. H. Warren.

In a report to council parks committee he states any persons keeping more than three cats, should be classed as "cat breeders." Cats would mean those over six months old.

Cat breeders would require a $2 licence which would not be issued to anyone located in a residential area, under the Warren plan.

Any complaint of nuisance by cats should be investigated by the medical health officer, the report added.

It classed as "unworkable" a plan suggested by Cats' Protection League that cat owners should be required to have excess cats spayed or "neutered."

If the report is adopted a cat foundling home on Duchess Street would be forced to shut down. The city has received complaints because the owners allegedly keep 20 to 30 cats. It is charged they are let out at night and become a nuisance. Thirteen neighbors have complained.

The committee referred the matter to the Union Board of Health for an expression of opinion before taking action on the administrator's report.

Tot Fractures Skull In Fall From Slide

A two-year-old girl who suffered a fractured skull when she fell from a slide in Stevenson Park was reported in "satisfactory" condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital today.

The child, Dolores Stoyles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Stoyles, 1319 Gladstone, was playing with other children when she toppled from the slide Sunday afternoon.

over the next five years, "at most $10,000 a year."

The new figures would raise the Victoria census from 53,088 to 54,588.

City manager C. C. Wyatt had earlier contested the count taken last May. He felt it was indicated by building figures, birth and death rates the city actually held 55,000 people.

He gave credit to the city manager and his department for the lengthy research which won the new estimate.

"I am not satisfied yet, Council will have to decide whether we will accept this increase or continue to press for another count," the mayor added.

He said the decision to increase the count was partly due to the fact a number of naval personnel who are resident here were away from the city at the time.

Two Fires Being Probed

Two suspicious fires over the weekend were under investigation today.

City firemen were called out at 10 a.m. Sunday to the Harknett Fuel yard on Alpha Street where an empty CNR boxcar was afire.

The flames ate through a yard-square hole in the thick floorboards of the car before it was extinguished.

A front and rear cushion from a small-model automobile were taken by police detectives for examination.

Investigation is also being continued into a fire in a vacant house at 2819 Quesnel early Saturday — the second blaze within 48 hours.

The fire, which caused considerable damage to the roof and attic, was deliberately set.

Rev. Henry Earle Funeral Set For Wednesday

Funeral services for the Rev. Henry Earle, who died in Royal Jubilee Hospital Saturday, will be held in Christ Church Cathedral Wednesday at 1:30 p.m.

Dean Brian Whitlow will officiate. Mr. Earle was an Anglican minister who retired to Victoria 11 years ago. He was 77 at the time of his death.

A graduate of Oxford University, Mr. Earle was ordained in 1902 and served in England until 1905. He moved to St. John's, Newfoundland, and later to Toronto, where his last parish was St. Mark's, Parkdale.

He is survived by his wife Dorothy at home, 1180 St. Louis, three sons in Toronto, a daughter, one sister and a brother.

Funeral arrangements are in charge of Chaplin's Funeral Chapel.

GRADUATING as a minister this month from the Light-house of International Four-square Evangelism Bible College in Los Angeles, Calif., is William Bell, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milos Belobaba, 1448 Grant Street. Former student at Victoria High School, he will become pastor of Maymont Four-square Church in Maymont, Sask., in February. While here, Bell was active in Esquamet Four-square Church.

He gave credit to the city manager and his department for the lengthy research which won the new estimate.

"I am not satisfied yet, Council will have to decide whether we will accept this increase or continue to press for another count," the mayor added.

Five Hurt In Skid Accidents

Ice-coated streets were blamed for a number of traffic accidents over the weekend in Greater Victoria.

Five persons were taken to hospital for minor injuries, but four were treated and released. Chow Fan Foo, 53, of 658 Canterbury, and 14-month-old Maevan Ann May Chow were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital at 4:15 p.m. Sunday after the car in which they were riding hit a pole at Government and Princess.

Frank William Crouch, 1636 Hillside, suffered a cut on his leg when the car he was driving skidded into a stone embankment on Bay between Work and Quadra.

A passenger, Julie Johnson, 60, of 2230 Vista Heights, was also cut on the leg. She was admitted but was expected to be released today.

Dennis Joseph Beaulac, 462 Superior, was cut over the eye and received leg abrasions when his car hit the west support of the viaduct on Esquamet Road at 4:20 a.m. Sunday. He was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital but released shortly after.

He is survived by his wife Dorothy at home, 1180 St. Louis, three sons in Toronto, a daughter, one sister and a brother.

Funeral arrangements are in charge of Chaplin's Funeral Chapel.

'YOU HAVE TO LEARN TO GIVE AND TAKE'

One of the requisites of a happy and successful marriage is equal sharing, according to Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Richardson, 451 Grange Road, who celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary Sunday.

The couple in their eighties were married in 1897 in St. Peter's Church, Regent Square, London, Eng., on Jan. 12, 1897.

"That's a long time ago," said Mr. Richardson. "The world was different then."

"Marriage life is largely based on share and share alike," he added. "You have to learn how to give and take."

"And to try to understand each other's point of view," nodded Mrs. Richardson with a smile.

GOOD HEALTH

The English-born couple both enjoy good health and are proud of having weathered the trials and tribulations of life. They have lived through reigns of five monarchs, three wars and the largest economic depression of the century.

Shortly after they were married, Mr. Richardson served in the South African War, and 14 years later fought in the First World War.

They came to Canada in 1913 and lived the greater part of their life in Edmonton. In 1942 they settled in Victoria.

The elderly couple are still active. Mr. Richardson gardens and is spry enough to be able to paint the entire interior of his home.

Sommers Report Release Asked

Labor Wants A-G to File RCMP Report in House

The B.C. Federation of Labor, in a brief to the provincial cabinet today, asked "that the attorney-general place before the coming legislative session the full RCMP report on the Sommers case."

The suggestion was contained in a lengthy brief read to the cabinet on behalf of the 15-man delegation by George Home, secretary-treasurer.

There was no amplification.

Two Victoria officers, Victor Midgley, second vice-president, and Robert Smeal, third vice-president were members of the delegation, which was led by William Black, president. They represented 100,000 members in B.C.

The brief called for an amendment to the Hours of Work Act providing for a 40-hour work week, pointing out that it is 10 years since the act was amended to provide for a 44-hour week.

NO BLUE RUIN

"During these 10 years a phenomenal development has taken place in B.C." it was stated. "Instead of the blue ruin prophesied by opponents to reduction of the work week, we have witnessed a strong economic growth, profits have increased, tax returns to all levels of government are greater than ever and there has been a steady rise in living standards."

The government was asked to pass legislation for:

1. All workers to be paid for proclaimed provincial holidays.

2. A minimum working wage of $1.25 an hour.

3. One hundred per cent payment of total earnings to victims of accidents under the Workmen's Compensation Act.

4. An increase of widow's allowances to $100 a month.

5. Full coverage for all industrial diseases.

CHRONIC CASES

The delegation urged that all chronic cases be brought within scope of the Hospital Insurance Act and that treatment provided for in-patients in hospitals be extended to outpatients.

The cabinet was told that overcrowding in major B.C. hospitals "is a disgrace" and a major drive to build hospital beds should be conducted by BCHHS.

Recommending re-establishment of the hospital insurance advisory committee, the delegation requested that labor be given the right of nominating members to the committee.

It urged that the provincial bonus for old-age pensioners be increased to provide a joint federal-provincial pension of at least $75 a month.

On forest policy, the brief recommended:

1. Management of forests and control and supervision of cutting methods be placed in the hands of an established government agency.

2. Intensified research into all phases of silviculture.

3. Provision for adequate fire and insect control.

4. Establishment of a provincial forest utilization laboratory to conduct research on more efficient methods of recovery and use of waste material.

Because of "indications" that unemployment is increasing, the government was asked to step up its public works program and continue to increase efforts made to have interior work done during the winter months.

The delegation further requested a program of low-cost housing in all areas now affected by a shortage of homes, and suggested a government-operated and owned plan of auto insurance to be made compulsory and included as part of the licence fee.

"Such a plan would recognize the social problems involved and provide for full family coverage."

The brief called for a new approach to municipal financing with a municipal tax on industry as the source of wealth in the municipality, and a corresponding decrease in taxes on homes with a basic exemption of $3,000.

It opposed the suggestion of a municipal service tax.

The government was asked to introduce a bill permitting Sunday sport and entertainment on a local option basis within the municipalities if so indicated by a referendum vote.

Repeal of the Sunday Observance Act as at present on the statute books was requested.

Establishment of a permanent commission to revise the distribution of electoral seats from time to time was also contained in the brief.

Teenagers Hurt In Car Flip

Two teen-agers received minor injuries Sunday when the car in which they were riding missed a curve on the Shawinigan Lake road and overturned.

Treated and discharged from St. Joseph's Hospital were Darlene Curtis, 16, of 1471 Edgeware, and Jim Carvath, 15, of 420 Hillside.

Three other youths in the car were unhurt.

Sgt. John H. S. P. Jones of the RCMP Identification Branch also gave evidence and submitted a number of photographs as evidence.

Sgt. Jones said pieces of a plastic eyeglasses frame found at the accident scene matched a frame previously stated as being found in the back of the open-back truck.

Comparisons of impressions found on the bumper and hood of the truck with clothing worn by the victim also showed similarities, Sgt. Jones said.

Thomas Wallace, 651 Pine, testified that he followed Gibbs off a bus at the intersection just before the accident.

He said he saw the victim walk around behind the bus and start out across the street. Then he heard a "bump" and saw Gibbs' body rolling off the side of a truck.

Small Animal Park Asked in Saanich

A zoological park, 15 years in advance of anything in North America, is envisioned for Saanich by provincial museum artist Frank L. Beebe.

Mr. Beebe and an interested group have tentative plans in mind for development of a park for small animals with a minimum of enclosure, and will ask Saanich council at its regular meeting tonight for a later hearing.

"Saanich is the best area in all of Canada to try such a thing," Mr. Beebe said. "It would keep tourists here an extra two days."

For seven years Mr. Beebe was zookeeper of Vancouver's famed Stanley Park zoological section and has an extensive background of experience with animal life.

He claims his concepts for a project such as this are 15 years ahead of the field and would continue to advance and expand in time as a perpetual project rather than start out as an established undertaking.

Mr. Beebe is known to many persons in this area as a falconer, and in addition he has appeared on local TV with small, live animals, which he describes

Hit-Run Trial Under Way In City Court

Identification Expert Testifies

Trial of Frederick Parkinson, 906 Admirals, on a charge of failing to remain at the scene of a fatal traffic accident at Craigflower and Raynor Dec. 15, opened in city police court today.

The trial was adjourned until Friday after three witnesses were heard. It was indicated the hearing will take some time to complete.

Parkinson is alleged to have been the driver of a truck which struck and killed Clement S. Gibbs, 72, as he was crossing the street.

AT HOME

Const. Roy Foster testified that a one-ton truck with damage on the grill was located not long after the accident in the driveway of Parkinson's home.

In a statement to police before the charge was laid, Parkinson said he had been driving the truck during the evening but had not been on Craigflower or involved in any accident.

Sgt. Jones said pieces of a plastic eyeglasses frame found at the accident scene matched a frame previously stated as being found in the back of the open-back truck.

Comparisons of impressions found on the bumper and hood of the truck with clothing worn by the victim also showed similarities, Sgt. Jones said.

Thomas Wallace, 651 Pine, testified that he followed Gibbs off a bus at the intersection just before the accident.

He said he saw the victim walk around behind the bus and start out across the street. Then he heard a "bump" and saw Gibbs' body rolling off the side of a truck.

Roses and Lilacs in Bloom! Is It Wishful Thinking?

By PENNY SAVER

It can be June in January in Victoria, in fact, right in your own home!

Spring flowers, freshly cut, are on sale in town, so your tables can be ablaze with daffodils, but for the beauty of summer, there are gorgeous tea roses, long-stemmed, that are imported from Italy. These artificial roses are waxed for long life, and look so real that it takes close inspection to discover that they aren't. There are also white roses, with the attractive long stems. Each bloom costs $1.

Lilac, white or mauve, comes in graceful sprays that, like the roses, are so life-like one almost expects the haunting lilac fragrance to be present too. Each spray costs $1.25.

You collectors of Limoges china miniatures, imported from France, will be pleased to hear that a small local store has a wonderful new shipment of these pieces. As well as the diminutive plates that can be displayed, there are jugs, coffee pots, candlesticks, chairs, tables, buffets, pianos, clocks and cribs, all patterned with the delicate scenes. The prices range from 75 cents for a chair to $1.49 for a plate made into a tin. There's a tea set, complete with two cups and saucers, sugar and cream jugs, teapot and tray for $6.

Another Limoges piece I saw is a real antique. It's a wee demitasse cup (the type on tiny legs) and saucer. A lovely gift for someone who likes and appreciates good china. This is $3.95.

In my wanderings around town I also saw golden china cups and saucers that look so rich and smart that I found myself trying to think of someone to whom I could give one. The regular coffee or demitasse size, these china cups are a metallic gold color. If you know someone with a golden anniversary in the offing, this would be a very appropriate and thoughtful gift.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

We cannot live vibrantly and feel strongly and think and worry and simply be human without experiencing some wear and tear, without having the years take some toll of our youthful appearance. However, today it is possible for a woman to remain youthful much longer than it once was.

Today we know so much more about nutrition, about the value of exercise and the dangers of overweight and unhappy emotional attitudes that we can delay the age of deterioration surprisingly. Add to that modern tricks of make-up, hairstyling and figure molding and we are coming close to a fountain of youth.

Any woman can have good looks if she is willing to work for it. Any woman is attractive who has a well-proportioned figure, graceful posture, a clear skin, well cared for hair and aliveness and warmth. With all the knowledge available today, it seems too bad not to take advantage of it. In order to help you do so I bring you my Eight-Week Self-Improvement Marathon once each year.

LAST MINUTE DIRECTIONS

Here are a few last minute directions for the thousands of you who are writing in. Please follow the directions about both exercise and diet. Plan your meals carefully, including the elements necessary for health each day. Please do not become so enthusiastic about your exercise that you overdo. Exercise should leave you feeling refreshed rather than tired. This is a mistake many women make. This is not only bad for you but it leaves you with such sore muscles that you are almost sure to give up.

You are certain to experience some soreness even when you start in slowly and work up gradually, but this soon will pass. Even if your muscles are stiff, do a little exercise each day. Otherwise you will have to start all over and go through it again.

If you want to join my Eight-Week Self-Improvement Marathon send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Marathon booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

About a house-warming:

Some friends of ours who recently moved to a new house invited us and five other couples for an informal evening. I noticed that two of the couples brought gifts, and I am humiliated. I feel that I should send them something right away, but first want your advice. If you think I should, what kind of gift would you suggest? There had been no indication that these friends were giving a house-warming or I would have taken something.

Louise Davis answers:

The first thing for you to do is to banish your humiliation. There is no reason why you should have felt obligated to take your friends a gift. As you noticed you were not the only ones who went empty handed. Banish the idea of getting something now because you would then embarrass your friends, who might think you are trying to rectify an oversight and you would be making matters worse.

Of course, you will be going to their house again, and at that time, even if it is an impromptu social call, you can take a gift if you like. However there is no obligation. In the meantime, should you invite these friends to your house for an evening, you can hand them a gift as they are departing, saying casually "This is just a little something for your new home."

That idea is not a must, either, but it would be nice providing you really would like to do it.

Suggestions for a gift are unlimited. Having seen the house, you should have a better idea than I. These items might give you some idea: Finger-tip towels, bon-bon dish, tray, plant container, jelly jar, ceramic bowl.

Nurses Told of University School To Train Women of Middle East

At annual meeting of the Registered Nurses' Association Mrs. J. Jones was re-elected president for another year. Other members of the executive are: Past president, Miss E. Riddell; first vice-president, Miss M. McMillan; second, Mrs. M. Croft; recording secretary, Miss J. Jamieson; corresponding, Miss E. Benson; treasurer, Miss Olive Wilson.

Chairmen of standing committees include: Membership, Mrs. P. McCaig; press, Miss K. Riley; program, Mrs. J. Campbell; hope, emergency nursing, Mrs. E. Dalman; sick visiting and social, Miss M. Lutton; community welfare, Mrs. P. Roberts; cerebral palsy, Miss N. Martin; Local Council of Women, Miss N. Jones; Future Nurses' Club, Mrs. A. Ault.

Guest speaker was Miss Edith Green, a former director of nursing education at Royal Jubilee Hospital. In 1954 Miss Green was chosen one of a nursing education team in response to a request by the government of Egypt to the World Health Organization for assistance in setting up a university school of nursing for the Middle East countries.

COMBATS MANY PROBLEMS

"The request was the culmination of long study of nursing needs in the region, including surveys and recommendations by special nursing consultants, and was a part of the very extensive program of social welfare undertaken by the Egyptian government in the past few years, to combat the problems of over-population, illiteracy, disease and malnutrition," Miss Green stated.

Included in the program of village improvement, school expansion, desert land reclamation, irrigation projects, agricultural research, is a tremendous increase in health services, "but the problem of staffing these services is acute."

Medical education enjoys great prestige, and hundreds of young doctors are graduated each year; but nursing has not kept pace in development, and the present schools of nursing are inadequate both in quality and in quantity of their graduates. Prejudice exists, and the majority of nursing students are girls from the poorer families with not more than four years of primary education.

All reports have agreed on the principle that improvement in nursing must come from within the country itself. Miss Green explained, and that the first requirement is a nucleus of potential nursing leaders, girls of better social and educational background with adequate professional preparation, who can assist in establishing better standards of nursing service, and prepare for supervisory, administrative and teaching functions in nursing.

ALL FIELDS OF NURSING

The university school was established as the Higher Institute of Nursing, a four-year degree program in the University of Alexandria, with provision for admission of students from other Arab countries of the region. The curriculum was planned as comprehensive preparation for all fields of nursing.

According to the agreement, World Health Organization provided international nursing educators, teaching equipment and books, and fellowships both for regional students attending the institute and for qualified Egyptian nurses recommended for post-basic study abroad. The government of Egypt provided buildings, furnishings, local staff, administrative and maintenance and transportation costs, and (when available) an Egyptian nurse counterpart for each member of the international staff. The first class of students was admitted in October, 1955.

It is a long-term project, the speaker pointed out. Results cannot be accurately evaluated for some years. "Many of the initial difficulties have been overcome; and there is an increase in public interest and in public comprehension which provides a hope that this may be the needed step for advancement of nursing in the Middle East."

Logger Sent To Higher Court On Murder Trial

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES
DUNCAN — Thomas Sidney Symes, 31-year-old logger, today was committed for trial in a higher court on a charge of murdering Paul Richard Powling, 25, early New Year's Day.

The accused was composed throughout the preliminary hearing on the charge, held before Magistrate A. C. Sutton. He will appear in Spring Assize Court.

Chief witness of the 10 who appeared during the morning hearing was Henry Van Vonkeman, who described a visit paid to him by Symes "sometime between 5 and 6 a.m." on New Year's Day.

Symes had a .30-30 rifle with him, with cartridges in the magazine. Symes also carried an empty cartridge case, he said.

Van Vonkeman said that after talking to Symes he persuaded him to go to the police.

Powling, also a logger, had worked with Symes in various logging camps.

He was shot at about 5:45 a.m. New Year's Day in the room of Mrs. Ramona Symes, estranged wife of the accused, at a Herbert Street rooming house. Mrs. Symes, who was in the room when the shooting occurred, was in court today but was not on the witness stand.

Alistair I. Macdonald appeared for Symes, and Robert J. Harvey represented the Crown. Symes is being held at Oakalla Prison pending the trial.

Russ Urge Full-Scale Arms Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The United States today called for United Nations action on a new five-point disarmament plan which would place international controls on space missiles and on future stockpiling of nuclear weapons.

Russia replied by proposing a special session of the 80-nation General Assembly to be devoted exclusively to the disarmament problem.

At the same time, Soviet deputy foreign minister Vassily V. Kuznetsov blasted the "Eisenhower doctrine" for the Middle East as interference in the affairs of the Arab nations and

'Smear' Cries U.S. Delegate

Lodge called his remarks a "smear on the United States, irrelevant and impertinent."

Kuznetsov repeated the disarmament proposals made recently by Premier Bulganin and declared they offered a sound basis for agreement. These proposals included an agreement to institute an aerial inspection system in a central European zone extending 500 miles each side of the iron curtain.

The Soviet delegate also formally proposed an immediate ban on future nuclear test explosions.

The new U.S. disarmament proposals would go into effect, Lodge stressed, only after an iron-clad system of controls and inspections had been established to guard against violations or evasions.

Major points of the proposal were:

1. That an agreement be reached under which all future production of fissionable materials shall be stockpiled exclusively for non-weapons purposes under international inspection.
2. That nuclear test explosions be limited and later banned, if an agreement is reached to control the stockpiling of fissionable materials. Pending such an agreement, the United States would be willing to work out a system for advance notice and limited international observation of such tests.
3. That the armed forces of the United States and the Soviet Union be limited to 2,500,000 each and those of Britain and France to 750,000 each, if the nations concerned can agree on progressive establishment of an inspection system. This would include aerial inspection, as proposed by President Eisenhower at the summit meeting, and ground inspection at key points, as proposed by Premier Bulganin.
4. That the testing of all space missiles, including earth satellites and space platforms, be installed progressively to guard against surprise attacks. This would be supervised by an international agency which would be established concurrently with the beginning of the program.
5. That an international inspection and control system be installed progressively to guard against surprise attacks. This would be supervised by an international agency which would be established concurrently with the beginning of the program.

KHRUSHCHEV SOVIET PREMIER?

WARSAW (AP)—Polish Communist circles buzzed today with rumors that Nikita Khrushchev may soon become Soviet premier and that Georgi Malenkov will take his place as first secretary of the Communist party.

The reports said the present premier, Nikolai Bulganin, would retire from public life. Communist sources here felt that if the changes in the Soviet hierarchy do come about they will not mean a return to Stalinism, despite Malenkov's long association with the Soviet dictator.

In fact, they said, Malenkov was responsible for much of the softening of Soviet foreign and domestic policy during his term as Soviet premier.

No Oil Price Hike in Canada, Declares Howe

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe said today the oil situation in the Suez area will have "no bearing" on oil prices in Canada.

He was replying in the Commons to Colin Cameron (CCF-Nansimou), who asked whether the government is taking action to ensure oil companies don't use the fact oil shipments from the Suez have been cut off as an excuse to raise their prices in Canada.

Mr. Howe said eastern Canada gets most of its oil from Venezuela and the United States. Only a small amount came through the Suez Canal, still blocked by sunken shipping.

U.K. Announces Talks to End Yemen Conflict

LONDON (AP)—Britain announced today preliminary discussions have started on ways to ending the desert fighting on the ill-defined borders between Yemen and Aden.

A foreign office spokesman said the government of Aden was consulting tribal chieftains in the British protectorate on the possibility of expanded talks. The foreign office also has been in contact with the Yemeni charge d'affaires in London.

There has been sporadic fighting between Yemeni tribesmen, augmented by Yemeni regular troops, and British tribal forces of Aden, helped by RAF jet planes in the frontier area. The scene is at the southern end of the Red Sea on the Arabian peninsula.

Yemen contends the British have invaded Yemen while Britain insists the Yemenis have been crossing the border into Aden for years and are being driven out.

The reports said the present premier, Nikolai Bulganin, would retire from public life. Communist sources here felt that if the changes in the Soviet hierarchy do come about they will not mean a return to Stalinism, despite Malenkov's long association with the Soviet dictator.

Frigid Arctic Air Blankets All Canada

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadians shivered today in frigid Arctic air that spread almost from the east to west coast. There was little hope the bone-chilling temperatures would moderate in many areas by tonight.

(See page 11 for city and Island weather story.)

Bright, sunny skies over most provinces Sunday failed to offer much comfort to those who ventured into the chilly air.

The weatherman had bad news for Northern Ontario, predicting the cold wave would tighten its grip there. Sudbury recorded 32 degrees below zero Sunday night and Kapuskasing 31 below.

White River, known as the coldest place in Ontario, clung to its dubious honor with a Sunday reading of 53 degrees below.

Pair Still Missing —Planes Collided

SQUAMISH, B.C. (CP)—Two survivors of a mid-air crash between two T-33 jet trainers Sunday afternoon were located today by RCAF search planes in mountainous terrain 17 miles northeast of here.

Four men were aboard the two planes. RCAF officials said a para-rescue team of two had been dropped in the vicinity where two fires had been burning through the night but the team was unable to reach the survivors, seen from the air.

A Piasecki helicopter, after picking up the rescue team, left this coast village 40 miles north of Vancouver, in an attempt to land near the survivors.

Officials said it was impossible to say at this time who the survivors were but released the names of three of the four Vancouver airmen aboard the jets when they collided and exploded.

They are: Flight Lieut. Burton Patkau, 27, pilot; FO Roderick Atkins, 19, a passenger, and FO Bernard McCormack, 21, a TCA pilot, also a passenger.

Next of kin of the fourth airman are believed to be in England and have not yet been notified, said the RCAF.

All were members of 421 Auxiliary (Reserve) Squadron based at Sea Island, near Vancouver.

Two fires were spotted by air searchers Sunday night in the vicinity where the jets collided and exploded in a ball of flame and smoke.

Followed Parachutes to Earth

An RCAF pilot, Wing Cmdr. Barker, who witnessed the collision from a Harvard trainer overhead, said he saw two men bail out.

However, Billy Swann, 15, and Doug Barnfield, 12, both of Squamish, said they saw three parachutes. Billy told, with young Barnfield verifying his account, of seeing the planes collide in flames under a clear sky.

"We saw three parachutes after that," he said. "Two were together and the other one was alone to the north."

After the collision, he said, the sky was blackened with

MEDICAL MURDER?

Widow Enslaved As Drug Addict Yard Charges

EASTBOURNE, England (AP)—Dr. John Bodkin Adams was accused today of enslaving a wealthy 81-year-old widow by turning her into a drug addict, then killing her with overdoses after she changed her will in his favor.

The prosecution outlined its case against the 57-year-old bachelor physician at a hearing in this seaside resort where many old people come to spend their last days. Scotland Yard Superintendent Herbert Hannam built up the case after painstaking study of the wills of 400 rich Eastbourne residents.

Prosecutor Melford Stevenson suggested the defence may take the line that the doctor merely was easing the death of a woman already dying.

He told how Adams was approached by the Scotland Yard detective on Dec. 10 during the investigation of the death of the widow, Mrs. Edith Morrell. When questioned, the prosecutor said, Adams replied simply:

"Easing the passing of a dying woman is not all that wicked. She wanted to die. That can't be murder. It is impossible to accuse a doctor."

Adams received a Rolls Royce and a valuable chest of antique silver under Mrs. Morrell's will. The prosecutor said the stout, bespectacled doctor also had been trying to get Mrs. Morrell to leave a locker box full of jewelry which she kept at her bank.

Mrs. Morrell died Nov. 13, 1950, at Marden Ash, a lonely mansion whose grounds were patrolled by a watchman with a dog. Her death certificate said she died of cerebral thrombosis. Her body was cremated and by her will her ashes were scattered over the English Channel.

Armed V.I. Loggers Nab 2 Theft Suspects

PORT ALBERNI — An alert logger was responsible for the apprehension and arrest of two men Sunday afternoon at Sarita River logging camp on the Alberni Canal 30 miles south-west of here.

The two are held in jail here and face multiple charges of theft.

A. T. Kachowski saw a boat moored at the wharf with what he suspected to be a stolen outboard motor on the deck.

He sought the help of T. J. Blower, personnel manager at the camp. They armed themselves with a rifle and a shotgun, awakened the two men on the boat, and held them until two RCMP constables arrived by air from here.

CRUISER WRECKED

They found that early last week a 32-foot cruiser was wrecked at Cape Beale, at the mouth of Barkley Sound and five miles from Bamfield. Two men aboard were taken to the Bamfield lifeboat station, and cared for by John Logvinoff of the station staff, for three days.

After they left it was noted clothing and other goods were missing. A boat also was missing from the village.

The cruiser totally wrecked at Cape Beale had been missing from Vancouver for about three weeks.

NEWS BRIEFS

Delegates from South Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association will attend the next meeting of city council welfare committee to discuss the controversial sink by-law. Council recently recommended a three-year delay in enforcing the by-law which would require a sink in every housekeeping unit. It is expected the association will ask the whole by-law be scrapped.

Victoria funeral directors have informed the city council in future the funeral costs for indigents will be $125 plus burial or cremation charges. This charge was $75 in the past. The letter informing of the increase was tabled by council parks committee today until discussions on the matter have been held with other municipalities in the area. The city pays all costs for funerals of indigents.

City welfare committee will ask city electrical engineer Kenneth Reid to examine wiring in the Old Men's Home. Complaints have been received of poor lighting, failed to extract oil commercially and if you put on a toaster you cially from the deposits which blow a switch," said Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson.

$50 MILLION PROGRAM

Royalite to Probe Athabasca Oil Sands

CALGARY (CP) — The Royalite Oil Co. Ltd. and associates plan spending $50,000,000 in the next four years on development of the fabulous Athabasca oil sands 350 miles northeast of Edmonton.

Ray Althouse of Calgary, Royalite president, announced Saturday plans for erection of separation and processing plants and a 350-mile pipeline to Edmonton from the deposits, said to contain the world's largest known reserves of oil.

The property which Royalite and its associates have on lease is estimated to contain 1,000,000,000 barrels of oil. The promoters hope to produce a premium grade of oil.

Since 1897 many companies have been received of poor lighting, failed to extract oil commercially and if you put on a toaster you cially from the deposits which blow a switch," said Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson.

KE'S PLAN TO CRUMBLE — KHRUSHCHEV

LONDON (Reuters) — Nikita Khrushchev, Soviet Communist party chief, Sunday night launched a heated attack against the Eisenhower doctrine for the Middle East, predicting that it is doomed to crumble against the "granite rock" of the Soviet Union.

Tass news agency quoted him as telling a mass meeting in Tashkent that the Eisenhower plan was "aimed against the Soviet Union" but like the Truman doctrine it would fail.

Khrushchev charged that "the imperialists have raised a savage howl against the Soviet Union and the whole Socialist camp."

But, he added, that is understandable because the Western rulers "cannot reconcile themselves with the successful development of the Soviet Union and of all the Socialist countries."

Martin Fears Asians To Seek 'Short-Cuts'

By JOHN E. BIRD

OTTAWA (CP) — Health Minister Martin says unless democratic Asian countries are "understood" by the West, there is a danger of them attempting "authoritarian short-cuts on the road to modernization."

He also said in an interview following his arrival here Saturday night from a nine-week tour of South and Southeast Asia that the Commonwealth is a mighty instrument for peace, not only in Asia but all the world.

Mr. Martin said there is an intense desire on the part of Asians to maintain independence and to preserve their historical traditions through democratic procedures.

But, he said, there are enormous physical problems to be overcome.

"There is a continuing risk that unless the Asian countries are understood by the West, some Asian countries which have begun to travel the way of democracy may be tempted to try what may appear to be authoritarian short-cuts on the road to modernization," the statement said.

TRUCK PLUNGES THROUGH ICE; FIVE DROWN

KENORA, Ont. (CP) — Bodies of five men were recovered Sunday from a truck that became a tomb when it plunged through the ice of a lake 20 miles north of here.

Eleven other men escaped when the truck went through the ice backwards about noon Saturday, trapping all but three men in the tarpaulin-covered back and leaving only the cab jutting above the ice which covered 15 feet of water.

The three men in the cab clambered to safety and helped cut the tarpaulin so eight passengers could escape into the icy water. The others were caught in the truck.

LEEDEY, Okla. (AP) — Five boys aged seven to 14 were drowned Saturday when the ice broke beneath them on a farm pond where they were playing.

New Attempt For Tearoom In Beacon Hill

City council parks committee launched a new attempt today to introduce profit-making ventures in Beacon Hill Park.

The committee, headed by Ald. Geoffrey I. Edgell, felt the new revenues would reduce costs of park maintenance for the taxpayers.

An interpretation of the deed of trust by which the city holds the park for the provincial government was that no commercial venture could legally be carried on there. This was endorsed by former city solicitor Arthur Patton.

Ald. E. D. McEwen told the committee he had checked the matter a year ago with the B.C. Attorney General's Department: CAN DO IT

"I was told the city had every right to use the park as it liked, provided it didn't interfere with the rights of others."

The committee decided to ask council to press the government for specific instruction on what uses can be made of the park. Parks administrator W. H. Warren said parks committees have made similar attempts for three years. Last year Ald. Don Smith was delegated to take the matter up at provincial level. No report was made.

The committee indicated a tea room would be the first experiment if approval was obtained.

"We could make the park self-supporting in future years," said Ald. Edgell.

Channel 12 Boost in Power All Set for Saturday Night

Only a blizzard will prevent Bellingham's television station from boosting its Channel 12 power Saturday night at 10.30.

David Mintz, general manager of station KVOZ-TV, said today.

With its transmitter placed on half-mile high Mt. Constitution, Orcas Island, Channel 12 will go to maximum 224,000 kilowatts from its current 34,000.

"Taking into consideration the height of our transmitter and the new power load," said

Mr. Mintz, "we will be as strong or stronger than any television station in the U.S."

Mr. Mintz explained that the chief problem in meeting its power boost date is the weather. A crew of engineers has been consistently battling blinding snows and freezing cold in an effort to meet the deadline.

"The boys built a shelter about the tower where they were working," he said, and worked all night Saturday and Sunday. Thanks to them we're on time but another blizzard would force a postponement."

Low-Cost Hydro Wanted by BCPC

Larger Low-Cost Power Source Said Needed to Keep Rates Down

KAMLOOPS—The B.C. Power Commission, faced with a four-fold increase in demand for electric power within the next decade, must develop a "much larger source of low-cost power" in order to keep its rates down.

C. W. Nash, director of load production for the government-owned production, said this today before the Kamloops and District Board of Trade.

The remarks were contained in a copy of the speech released to the press before delivery.

"We must graduate from the piecemeal addition of relatively small-scale generating plants to an orderly scheme of large-scale development to make best use of our natural resources," Mr. Nash said.

A mighty tug-of-war between public and private power for the hydro potential of the province's unharnessed rivers—the Columbia and Fraser-Thompson produced at the hydro generating plant to a reasonable estimate of 3 mills per kilowatt hour, is it sensible to consider nuclear power which is expected to cost a minimum of about twice as much as hydro 20 years from now?"

Mr. Nash traced the background of the present dispute between the U.S. and Canada over development of the Columbia, and said:

"It is now up to Ottawa and Washington to go beyond the International Joint Commission, to go beyond established legal precedents and find a formula to which both Canada and the U.S. can work in developing the full possible use of our great natural and national resources."

The U.S. has "firmly established" the legal position which precludes its claim on any downstream benefits from storage works in Canada from being taken for granted, Mr. Nash said.

Nuclear power is not likely to prove more economical than hydro power for many years to come, Mr. Nash said.

CONDITION EXCELLENT

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hospital attendants reported today that Eddie Cantor's condition is "excellent."

The comedian was admitted to hospital Saturday night after collapsing from what his doctor termed "exhaustion" following a Jackie Gleason television show honoring his approaching 65th birthday.

"has" been predicted, but Mr. Nash steered around this dispute.

"I am not at this time suggesting how, when or by whom these future power projects will be financed or developed."

"Each one, probably starting with Mica Creek, will be developed by some authority at the appropriate time, but it is out of my field to suggest how they will be financed and built."

"I am personally concerned, however . . . that the result is in the best public interest . . . and the availability of power at the lowest possible cost is ensured to all parts of the province."

Searchers found debris floating off the coast at Mispec and a marker buoy was dropped, indicating further investigation was planned.

The other ship involved was the 3,484-ton freighter Fort Avalon, the ship that found the wreckage.

Surface ships and an RCAF plane joined in the hunt.

Adams, who has practised in Eastbourne for more than 30 years, has also been charged with 16 offences under the forgery, larceny and cremation acts. These charges, however, were adjourned until the hearing of the murder charge.

The prosecutor said Adams, while treating the aged widow, gave Mrs. Morrell "massive quantities of morphine and heroin."

The court was told that Adams had "a lively personal interest" in Mrs. Morrell's will.

"It will become apparent to you that Mrs. Morrell was a somewhat capricious will-maker and it was essential from Adams' point of view, if he wanted to benefit, that she must die at a moment favorable to him," the prosecutor said.

Adams, perspiration rolling off his forehead, listened intently, taking detailed notes on the court proceedings. The case is not yet at the trial stage—this hearing is merely to determine formally whether the prosecution has sufficient evidence on which the murder case can be referred to trial.

The Star says investigators digging into the maze of stock market records for evidence against the three turned up indications of practices frowned upon by Ontario Securities Commission. The malpractices included placing phoney stock orders to stimulate a market for low-price mining and oil shares.

The paper quotes OSC chairman Col. O. E. Lennox: "We are going to . . . take necessary action."

British Labor Party Chiefs Split on Ike's Mid-East Plan

A division of opinion over President Eisenhower's force-for-peace plan for the Middle East has developed among leaders of Britain's Labor Party.

In London Aneurin Bevan came out in open criticism of Ike's proposals while in a television interview in Washington Hugh Gaitskell, leader of the party, termed Ike's plan "a step in the right direction."

Writing in London's left-wing Reynolds News, Bevan attacked the Eisenhower Middle East doctrine as "calculated to plunge the world into the nightmare of final war."

He also charged that the president's plan will undermine the authority of the United Nations.

The peppy Welshman, the Labor opposition's chief spokesman on foreign affairs, said the Eisenhower Doctrine, as revealed to Congress on Jan. 5, would make United States military intervention in the area subject to approval by the UN Security Council "after—mark this, after—it had started."

Bevan also took issue with the doctrine on the ground that it creates a new type of aggressor . . . a nation alleged to be acting under the "control of international Communism."

Bevan predicted that if American force was used against a nation so defined, Russia would use her veto in the Security Council and possibly to go to the defence of the aggressor.

"I can think of nothing more calculated to plunge the world into the nightmare of a final war," Bevan wrote.

Almost simultaneously, Bevan's party leader, Hugh Gaitskell, said in a television interview at Washington, D.C., that Eisenhower's Middle East doctrine is "a step in the right direction." He praised it for seeming to indicate "a more positive" American role in the Middle East.

Gaitskell urged that the United Nations create a larger police force to patrol all of Israel's borders. He said this could be taken as an immediate step to ease dangerous Middle Eastern tensions.

He said it would be "a wonderful thing" if the United States took the lead in persuading the UN General Assembly to build up such an international police force.

He suggested that the UN force also should occupy the Israeli-held Gaza Strip and part of the Sinai Peninsula "right down to the Gulf of Aqaba."

The visiting British leader said such a police force was urgently needed because he believed passions in the Middle East still are at too dangerous a peak to give any real hope of an immediate over-all settlement of problems in the area.
